'HE WAS GOOD'

Adeline Watkins, 50, said in a copyrighted interview in the Minneapolis Tribune that two years ago she turned down a proposal of marriage from Ed Gein, bachelor recluse who has admitted butchering a Plainfield, Wis. woman. The Tribune said she described Gein as "good and kind and sweet" to her and that she turned down his proposal, "not because there was anything wrong with him . . . I was afraid I wouldn't be able to live up to what he expected of me." (Story on Page 14). (AP Wirephoto.)

Faculty: Profs Trying To Kill 'Balanced' Training

. . . Controversy Draws Charge From Teachers College

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

The Teachers College faculty at the University of Nebraska has unanimously approved a rebuttal statement charging that the proposal of 11 NU Arts and Sciences College professors to change teacher certification standards was "an attempt to destroy the balanced program of teacher preparation."

The statement, labeled "The Truth About Preparation and Certification of Teachers" was introduced Wednesday by Teachers College Dean Frank Henzlik and passed by the college faculty.

Dean Henzlik

It was explained as the teachers college faculty answers to the reported statements of 11 professors' petition that authority for certification of teachers be placed in the subject matter departments which they will have to teach.

Motive Questioned

The Teachers College rebuttal charged that no copy of the statement of the 11 professors was given to the NU Board of Regents, Chancellor or member of the Teachers College faculty, and was available only through the public newspapers, adding:

"The statements made by the professors make it obvious that the motive behind the proposal is not to emphasize science as they first implied, but to destroy the balanced program of teacher preparation which has been developed over the years."

Answering the professors' statement that "this is in no way a part of any fight between the Teachers College and the College of Arts and Sciences," the Teachers College said:

"This has been a recurring issue since 1921 . . . this same proposal was made by 12 professors in the Arts and Science College including some of those now named . . ."

Cite Other Colleges

"The Medical College determines who should be recommended as doctors, the Dental College determines who should be recommended as dentists, the Engineering College determines those who should be recommended as engineers. On the same basis, the Teachers College should make recommendations to the State Commissioner of Education of those students qualified as teachers and who fulfill the requirements for certification by the State Department of Education."

Answering the professors' charge that "there has been little emphasis on subject matter qualification of teachers for the basic subjects," the Teachers College statement points out:

". . . out of 125 semester hours required for graduation, from 85 to 105 semester hours of subject matter course work are required. Only 20 semester hours of professional education are required . . ."

Administrators Defended

The Teachers College statement also defended state school administrators against the statement made by the faculty group advocating teacher certification change that "many such administrative officials have no basic subject matter training and are, therefore, in no position to appropriate and direct this vital part of the curriculum."

The Teachers College statement answered this statement by statistics showing that 65 per cent of all administrators in Nebraska schools have majors in mathematics, science, social science or English, and that more than 80 per cent have minors in these same subjets.

Defending the need for 20 hours of teacher education, the Teachers College statement explained that five to eight hours of the program was devoted to student teaching, six hours to educational psychology and six to classroom methods, and quoted the National Commission on Mathematics of the College Entrance Examination Board on the importance of this preparation.

The Teachers College statement commented that 'persons prepared in subject matter, whose come through the respective subject matter departments. If these teachers are not adequately prepared in subject matter, whos fault is it?"

In its summary the Teachers College statement said:

"It can readily be understood,

'Short Line' Head Testifies

Jack Romans of Ord, president of the Nebraska Short Line Carriers Association (left), and J. Max Harding, Lincoln attorney, appear before the Legislative Committee on Secondary Boycott Practices to testify on their experiences with the International Teamsters Union. (Star Photo.)

Trucking Official Quoted As Saying:

'Union Stronger Than Government'

Hearing On Secondary Boycotts Opens, May Run More Than 3 Days

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Delbert Clark of Omaha, terminal manager of Clark Brothers Transfer, Wednesday told a Legislative Committee studying secondary boycott practices in Nebraska, that an Omaha trucking official told him the "union was stronger than the government."

Clark said this was the response to a federal injunction obtained by Clark Brothers against the Teamsters Union to halt a secondary boycott against the Norfolk trucking firm.

Clark said he had copies printed of the federal injunction and took them to managers of Omaha trucking firms to see if they would again interchange freight which had stopped when the union picketed Clark Brothers for failure to unionize.

The Omaha trucker said the federal injunction was virtually ignored.

Clark wound up the testimony on the first day hearings before the Committee headed by Sen. Ray Simmons of Fremont.

Scheduled for three days, Simmons said Wednesday night he thought the hearing "may take longer" than first anticipated., adding that there "seems to be enough interest to justify continuing them."

He termed the information gained during the first day's hearing "very helpful."

Tom Coffey, state purchasing agent and former owner of Coffey Transfer Co., told the Committee he was forced to sell his trucking firm in 1956 as the result of Teamsters Union activities against his company.

"The only reason they were able to put me on my knees," Coffey said, "was use of the secondary and primary boycott, both of which are illegal in Nebraska."

He recited instances of his company's being squeezed out of business when other trucking firms refused to interchange freight with him through the use of the secondary boycott.

Threat Claimed

Coffey said the Teamsters told him they "would drag you (Coffey) out in courts until you're broke, and we (Teamsters) have $36 million to do it with."

Ray Ford of Omaha, president of Ford Storage and Moving Co., Jack Romans of Ord, operator of Roman's Motor Freight and president of Nebraska Short Line Carriers Association, and W. F. Clark of Norfolk, co-owner of Clark Brothers Transfer, also testified before the Committee.

They told the Committee they also had been pressured by transfer firms with union contracts to induce their employes to join the International Teamsters Union.

All employers apearing before the Committee Wednesday said they had not used any pressure to keep their employes from joining the union and that their employes generally had no interest in joining the union.

Nearly Year

Romans said he suffered the effects of a secondary boycott from May, 1956 to April, 1957 when he and representatives of 11 other transit companies banded together to form the Nebraska Short Line Carriers, Inc.

He said the firms were forced to join together to evade secondary boycotts imposed on them by larger, unionized trucking firms.

Committee Member Sen. Karl Vogel of Omaha, questioned witnesses as to whether truck operating permits issued by the State Railway Commission could not be revoked if one trucker refused to haul the freight of another trucker.

He was advised that such a case is now pending before the Railway Commission. The Commission ordered Red Ball Transfer and Union Freightways to show cause why their operating permits should not be revoked after the firms allegedly refused to pick up or deliver freight at Ford Storage and Moving Co., in Omaha.

Employers are scheduled to appear before the Committee again Thursday to tell their experiences with scondary boycotts, and when they have completed their testimony, union representatives will tell their side of the story.

Denial Made By Pentagon

'Widespread Myth' Is Answer To Congressman's Charge

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Asst. Secy. of Defense Murray Snyder Wednesday denied a congressional charge that a White House "hush-hush agency" is concealing news about the nation's military race against Russia.

"There is a widespread myth that people in government—at all levels—are engaged in a great conspiracy of secrecy," Snyder told the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. in a session devoted exclusively to freedom of information.

The charge came from Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif), chairman of the House Government Information subcommittee, who also addressed the APME.

The organization, holding its annual convention, adopted resolutions endorsing the work of Moss and his committee. It called on President Eisenhower to rescind his executive order that set up the system of classifying government information.

The accusation-denial was no novelty to either Snyder or Moss. The congressman's committee held two days of hearings this week with Snyder a principal witness. The assistant secretary, who handles public information for the Pentagon, said he was the "fall guy" for the committee.

Moss agreed with Snyder at the APME meeting there may be no conspiracy to hold back the news. But the congressman insisted there was a system of withholding news.

"I think I should report to you that the subcommittee is beginning to document, for the first time, the part played by a highly hush-hush agency within the White House which apparently is calling the signals on what the American public will be told in the life-and-death competition with Russia," Moss said.

Offers Names

He named the agency as the Operations Co-ordinating Board of the White House and the members as Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter, the chairman; Director of Central Intelligence Allen W. Dulles; George Allen, director of the U.S. Information Agency; and Robert Cutler, the President's personal representative, who is vice chairman.

Moss quoted Snyder as testifying the Pentagon's missile information policies are cleared by the board. And the congressman singled out Cutler as an enemy of freedom of information.

"Mr. Cutler's blueprint of secrecy is apparent in the failure to inform the public of the nation's missile-satellite deficiencies until Sputnik sailed across the skies," Moss said, and added:

"Under Mr. Cutler's philopsophy, the American people are to be denied the facts affecting national survival."

Long Delay

Moss said that two months before the launching of Sputnik I, the Library of Congress received two copies of a Russian magazine that disclosed the satellite would be launched.

"Yet, the chief of the Navy research and development, Adm. Bennett, has admitted that the translations of these articles did not reach his desk until the day before Sputnik I was fired," the congressman said.

Moss also said that a private corporation furnished the Air Force on June 21 with an analysis of Russian technical articles that predicted the Russians would launch a satellite by September.

"What the Air Force did with it," Moss said, "the subcommittee does not yet know."

But Snyder, a former newspaperman and White House press aide, insisted that the press does have access to information in the Pentagon.

"There is an honest desire on our part to make men accessible to reporters," he said. "We don't believe in handout government any more than you do."

DULLES SEES:

No Wait If Attack Launched

Declaration Not Needed For Retaliation

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said Wednesday night NATO forces would "almost certainly fight back" without waiting for a declaration of war, if attacked in the field.

The decision would be made on the spot by field commanders, Dulles told a news conference.

The attack, Dulles said, "almost certainly would involve American troops because the NATO forces are so intermingled." The fire would certainly be returned, he said, "if it were something comparable to Pearl Harbor, say."

Dulles had been asked what was the "time for decision" in the face of a possible atomic attack on NATO forces.

The secretary was here to address members of the Council on Foreign Relations at a dinner meeting.

Stockpiled

Dulles made these other points in answer to questions:

American atomic weapons now being stockpiled in Europe will remain under American control.

Prospects "are not rosy" for an arms limitation agreement with Russia.

The organization of a pro-Communist government in Syria "is a disturbing fact" but he doesn't consider it a sign of failure of the Eisenhower doctrine for stabilization of the Mideast.

The United States always has maintained the "initiative" over Russia and will continue to do so.

He has reached an agreement with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau about American arms to Tunisia. There was no elaboration.

Good Thing

Dulles later told members of the council that if the Russian Sputniks—the earth satellites Russ scientists fired into orbits—lead us to realize the magnitude of our peril it would be a very good thing indeed.

He asked, in his extemporaneous talk, what can we do about it? Then he said Americans had these three choices.

1. Try to make a deal with Russia.
2. Try to meet the threat alone.
3. Try to meet it in co-operation with other free nations.

Dulles said that Adlai Stevenson, now a State Department consultant, "will be on the federal payroll a long, long time."

Policies

Stevenson last week agreed to advise President Eisenhower and Dulles on formulation of policies for next month's NATO meeting in Paris.

Dulles didn't say in what capacity Stevenson would remain on the federal payroll, but presumably in his present capacity.

Dulles said Stevenson, former governor of Illinois and twice unsuccessful Democratic candidate for President, was helping prepare United States proposals for the NATO meeting in Paris starting Dec. 16. He said after the proposals were completed, Stevenson would study them and "if, after study, he is in agreement with them he said he would be willing to work for their adoption abroad."

The secretary said if the American proposals, still unknown, should be approved at the NATO meeting, new legislation will be needed in Congress to implement them.

Gen. Keirn Named Atom-Plane Czar

. . . Beat-Russia Plan Ordered

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission combined their nuclear aviation program under a single command Wednesday to speed production of the first atomic plane before Russia.

Maj. Gen. D. J. Keirn, assistant Air Force deputy chief for nuclear systems, was named to head the new program.

A joint statement by the Defense Department and the AEC said the "Integrated Project Office" would also be in charge of producing nuclear propulsion for missiles.

The centralization was interpreted as a response to congressional demands that the U. S. place the first atomic-powered plane into the air and thereby cancel some of the psychological advantage of the Russian earth satellite.

The original target date for producing the A-plane was the mid-1960, but there have been proposals for a great speedup by using a conventional aircraft rather than a specially-built plane as first suggested.

Not Practical

Many scientists maintain that an atomic airplane is not practical because the weight of material needed to shield the crew from radiation would make it bulky. However, they concede that getting a nuclear-powered plane in the air would be a demonstration of scientific prowness.

The Pentagon and the AEC said the Navy will participate in the newly centralized program and will have a representative in the new office.

Keirn, who currently is also chief of the Aircraft Reactors Branch of the Atomic Energy Commission, headed the air nuclear propulsion section in the World War II Manhattan Project which produced the first atomic bomb.

The joint statement said Keirn will have "responsibility for all work in connection with nuclear propulsion systems for aircraft and missiles both in the Air Force and the Atomic Energy Commission."

U Of N Wins First Moot Court Test

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The University of Nebraska beat the University of Kentucky Wednesday in a moot supreme court competition.

Thursday Nebraska will argue against the University of Kansas.

The teams of law students are arguing the legality of the discharge of a mythical guided missiles expert before a mock supreme court.

The competition for 10 midwestern law schools began Wednesday afternoon and will end Friday. The winner will then go to New York for further competition.

A total of 90 schools nationally are entered in the contest.

Regionally the contest was sponsored by the Washington University Law School, where Wednesday's contest was held, and the St. Louis Bar Assn.

Strong Winds Whip Snow

Strong northwest winds swirled the snow around Nebraska Wednesday and possible light snow was predicted for the northeastern part of the state Thursday.

Winds gusted to 40 m.p.h. Wednesday at McCook, Ainsworth, Norfolk, Scottsbluff and Chadron and to 30 m.p.h. at Beatrice, Kearney, Alliance, Grand Island, Imperial and Sidney.

High readings in the state Thursday were expected to be 35 to 45. Wednesday readings ranged from 40 at Lincoln to 30 at Sidney.

Roads continued to be icy and some areas were snow-packed late Wednesday, particularly east of Grand Island.

Sandys Says U.S. To Ask Approval Before Retaliation

LONDON (AP)—Defense Minister Duncan Sandys told Parliament Wednesday the United States has promised that none of its British-based bombers would go into action without British approval.

He was prodded by Labor members in Commons to comment on American military statements that U.S. nuclear bombers could roar off in 15 minutes to begin a retaliatory attack.

STATE FARM INCOME UP $50 MILLION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nebraska farm marketing income increased about 50 million dollars in the first nine months of 1957 over the corresponding period last year.

The Agriculture Department reported a total income in Nebraska of $678,668,000 in the ninth-month period this year as compared with $628,520,000 in the 1956 period.

Most of the increase came from livestock and products which jumped from $450,428,000 to $493,472,000.

Crop income increased from $178,092,000 to $185,196,000. The department said higher prices for cattle and hogs were responsible for the increase.

Eustis Mail Carrier Dies In Car Crash

Lincoln Star Special

EUSTIS, Neb. — Albert A. Courkamp, 56-year-old Eustis rural mail carrier, was fatally injured near here Wednesday as he was nearing the end of his daily mail route.

He apparently lost control of his car which went into a ditch, hit an embankment and rolled over, investigating officers said. He died shortly after the accident.

The crash occurred on a county road, five miles southwest of Eustis. He was traveling alone.

Survivors include his wife, Cora, and two children.

Genevan Recovers From Rare Operation

Lonnie O. Swails, 75 of Geneva chats with his daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Freeman of Geneva and nurse Joyce Hall at Lincoln General Hospital as he prepares to leave. Swails, Geneva's city and school district treasurer for the past 40 years, underwent a rare blood vessel plumbing operation during which a five-inch long nylon artery was substituted for a portion of damaged aorta. He is one of two persons to have undergone this type of surgery in Lincoln. The operation was performed by a team of Lincoln surgeons. (Star Photo.)

Girl, 12, Admits She Set 11 Hotel Fires

NEW YORK (AP) — A 12-year-old girl, daughter of a nightclub showgirl, told police Wednesday that she set 11 fires within 15 hours in an upper West Side hotel. She said she liked the excitement that ensued.

"She seemed to be a happy child and doesn't seem to be fully conscious of what she has done," Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said.

The commissioner did not reveal the child's name because of her age. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital for mental examination, and a hearing was set for Dec. 11.

The fires Tuesday night and Wednesday spread panic through the Hotel Brierfield on west 83rd Street, although the over-all damage came only to about $1,000.

In Las Vegas

The little girl lived on the seventh floor of the 15-story hotel with her grandmother and an uncle. The child's mother once was a showgirl at the Latin Quarter here and currently is playing in Las Vegas, Cavanagh said.

He said the youngster has not seen her mother in about a year and has never seen her father. The girl received psychiatric treatment about a year ago. She told Cavanagh she is a seventh grade student.

The youngster said she acted on the spur of the moment in setting the first fire in a room off the hotel lobby. The excitement it created led her to roam the hotel from top to bottom setting fires as she went.

The girl was at it again Wednesday morning. She set a fire in a trash can outside her apartment, then telephoned an alarm to the hotel desk. Deputy Fire Marshal Bernard Reilly questioned the youngster about the trash can blaze. This led to her confession.

'Not Guilty'

TOKYO (INS)—The suspended three-year sentence given GI William S. Girard for the fatal shooting of a Japanese woman was criticized by Japan's Socialist party as "no more than a verdict of not guilty."

Latest blast in a protest barrage triggered by Tuesday's judgment of the Maebashi District Court came in an official statement from the Socialist party.

City School's Guidance Counseling Probably Best In State—OU Official

The University of Omaha director of testing and guidance Wednesday cited the Lincoln city school system as having probably the best guidance counseling program in Nebraska, according to the Associated Press.

Humann

Dr. Gale Oleson made the statement in an interview in which he said most of Nebraska's schools are producing excellent candidates for square peground hole existences.

He said it is his opinion that too many youngsters go to college not knowing what course of study they want to pursue or having picked one they aren't suited for.

That's The Purpose

In explaining the guidance program, Julius Humann, director of guidance for the Lincoln Public Schools, told The Star that the "main purpose is that of education."

"We try to help him discover his own abilities, limitations and interests so he can develop to his highest potential," Humann said.

About five years ago, he said, the Lincoln schools changed from five periods to six in the school day with the extra period provided for homeroom guidance classes and study halls.

Strengthens Academic

The regular classes still meet for 55 minutes a day, he said, with the guidance program "strengthening the academic classes."

Some of the units in guidance would have had to be held in other classes anyway, Humann said.

The guidance and intelligence tests are carried on from kindergarten up with the junior and senior high schools placing more stress on the guidance program.

"The counselor finds out what the child's ability is and encourages the child to take courses commensurate with his ability," he said.

The last two years of guidance in senior high include information on how to find jobs, how to pick colleges, marriage relations, income tax and the American system of business and industry.

Teachers College Answers

therefore, that these statements quoted and taken from the proposal (made by 11 NU professors) as reported by the newspapers are based on little or no evidence and unsound assumptions.

"Statements to the effect that there is no emphasis on subject matter training in the so-called fundamental subjects and that the educational leaders have no basic training in subject matter are not only biased but inaccurate."

The Teachers College statement, released to the press Wednesday, will also be presented for consideration of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, which meets Saturday.

A petition following up the statement of the 11 NU arts and sciences professors was sent to NU Chancellor Clifford Hardin to be directed to the Board of Regents.

The latter petition suggests that arts and sciences departments be permitted to recommend qualified students for certification as teachers, a power now held exclusively by the Teachers College.

The Teachers College announcement expressed the faculty's readiness to provide information on the NU teacher training program, and pointed out that accurate information can be obtained from the State Department of Education, and explained:

"The present plan of certification is set by law. Over the years this plan has seemed wise to the people of Nebraska who have likewise given the Board of Regents the authority and responsibility for the internal organization of teacher education in the University."

Frank Foote of Axtell, only member of the NU Board of Regents willing to comment on the Teachers College statement Wednesday, said:

"We must look at all sides of this matter. The Board of Regents has the authority to allow all colleges of the university to recommend candidates for certification providing the candidates meet the state requirements of 18 hours of professional education instruction."

College Not Specified

He added that the legal professional education requirement does not mean that the student must be a Teachers College student.

Foote stated that the issue of broadening the teacher certification powers has been discussed many times in the past but that until the recent need for teachers with special training arose, "proponents of the idea were voices in the wilderness."

He added that the 1957 Legislature "saw fit to allow highly trained personnel to teach at high school level without any education courses by means of special emergency certificates."

Another factor in the controversy, Foote said, was the past abuses of education course requirements, in which students were advised to register for as many as "50 to 60 hours of 'how-to-teach'" courses during their college training.

Henderson and Miss Emerson were married in Mexico in 1950, less than a year after she divorced her second husband, Elliott Roosevelt.

Avery Released

CHICAGO (INS) — Sewell L. Avery, 84, former chairman of the Board of Montgomery Ward & Co., was released from Chicago's Wesley Memorial Hospital where he was confined for a bladder ailment.

STOPPAGE OF X-RAY USE FOR TB IS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Public Health Service recommended that mass use of X-rays to detect tuberculosis be stopped to reduce the risk of radiation exposure.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney issued a statement to state and local health agencies, suggesting that chest X-rays be limited to groups facing the greatest risk to the disease.

The groups include persons confined to hospitals and other institutions, low-income families, migrant workers and people known to be exposed to tuberculosis.

For the rest of the population, the health service suggested, communities should consider tuberculin skin testing as a first step.

Lincolnites Can Make It A Real Thanksgiving For Airmen At LAFB

Lincoln families can make Thanksgiving Day a real holiday for airmen at the Lincoln Air Force Base by inviting them to share their dinners and homes next Thursday.

Arrangements have been made by the LAFB Service Club, the Lincoln USO and the Sunday Journal and Star to help Lincolnites and airmen get together for the holiday.

If you would like to invite a pair or group of airmen into your home for the holiday, you may "register" as a host by calling Mrs. Leota Lowe, director of the Lincoln USO, any day through next Tuesday, between 2 p.m. and 10:30 p.m.

Tell Mrs. Lowe how many airmen you want to share your dinner with and at what time—either noon or evening.

Then on Thursday you may pick up your guests at the USO, 1402 P, at the appointed hour.

Interested airmen are already registering at the USO or with Mrs. Grace Horan, director of the LAFB Service Club, or with Chaplain Vernon Kullowatz at the Base.

The program of inviting LAFB airmen into Lincoln homes for holidays—Thanksgiving and Christmas—has been carried on successfully yearly since the base was reactivated.

REDS MAY HAVE NEW SURPRISE

MOSCOW (AP)—Diplomatic observers here said Wednesday there are indications that the Soviet Union will come up soon with a new and dramatic demonstration of Russian strength and influence to counter a propaganda setback in the United Nations.

The U. N. Assembly has just voted to add 14 members to its Disarmament Commission, bringing the total to 25. The 60-9 vote, over Soviet opposition, does not represent a serious political defeat for the Russians. But propagandawise it has other implications. Even the Middle Eastern nations Russia is helping with arms and economic programs lined up with the West in the vote.

The forthcoming Soviet gesture, therefore, may involve the Middle East. But Westerners here are accustomed to surprises, and the next one could be from any direction.

"Khrushchev and his followers have sprung so many unexpected things on us recently," said one diplomat, "that now we look for almost anything to happen — and it probably will."

'Slander' Charged

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Youth newspaper accused Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of slander. It said she asserted she saw neither smiles nor a single well-dressed person on her visit to Russia.

Komsomolskaya Pravda said Mrs. Roosevelt wrote after her return home that she wanted to "tell my readers the truth about the U.S.S.R." But then she "came out with a number of slanderous statements."

Vanguard 2nd Stage Is Tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apparently only one more major test remains before the United States attempts the launching of its first, experimental, six-inch satellite next month.

J. Paul Walsh, deputy director of the Navy's Project Vanguard, indicated this at a news conference Wednesday in disclosing that one stage of the three-stage satellite-launching rocket was "static tested" last week.

The test involved the second or middle stage of the rocket—the stage containing most of the rocket's guidance system.

"Static testing" means firing a rocket stage while it is fastened to the launching pad so it won't take off.

One Test

Walsh said only one more static tests remained—that of the first stage of the rocket. He said the third stage, carrying the satellite payload, would not be so tested. He declined to say when the next test would take place.

Another Vanguard official explained that the first and second stages of the rocket employ liquid fuels and that these stages can be ground-tested by using a relatively small amount of fuel to see if the rocket motor is functioning, without sacrificing the rocket stage itself.

In contrast, he explained, the third stage employs a solid fuel. To static test this, he said, would mean burning it out on the ground.

Aircraft Worker, Family To Leave For Island Prize

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS)—A young Long Beach couple said Wednesday they plan to leave next January to take possession of a south Pacific island they won in a limerick contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Shelby said they will take their 15-month old baby girl along with them and stay if the island suits them.

Shelby, an aircraft plant worker, is 23 and his wife is 21.

He said:

Inflation Cost U.S. Nearly $13 Billion First 9 Months Of 1957

. . . Prices To Rise, Dip, Then Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation cost Americans nearly 13 billion dollars in the first nine months of this year, official government figures indicated Wednesday.

Government economists figure prices may continue to rise slightly during the balance of the year, dip a bit in January, then level off in a period of comparative stability.

Officials said the figures should not be taken to mean that Americans as a whole were 13 billion dollars worse off. Many received wage or other income increases, they said, which contributed tothe increase in prices, but at the same time eased the effect of higher prices on those who got the raises.

The cost of inflation was highlighted in a report by the Office of Business Economics (OBE). The total value of goods produced and services rendered, it said, rose from an annual rate of 426 billion dollars at the end of 1956 to 439 billion dollars during the third quarter of this year.

Higher Prices

This figure—called the gross national product or GNP — jumped three billion dollars in the first quarter of 1957, five billion in the second quarter and another five billion in the third quarter.

A spokesman for OBE said practically the entire 13 billion dollar increase reflected higher prices.

The government report showed that American consumers spent nearly five billion dollars more in the third quarter of this year than they did in the second. Most of the expansion was in purchases of food, clothing, and other nondurable goods. During the third quarter, consumer buying reached an annual rate of 283½ billion dollars.

Expenditures for services, including housing and household operations, also increased. Spending for consumer durable goods held about even with the spring quarter, as the windup of the 1957 automobile model year carried sales for the January-September period to about the same figure for the corresponding period of 1956.

Private domestic investment, the OBE said, totaled 65½ billion dollars, maintaining the pace established in the spring. Business outlays for producers' durable equipment and for new non-residential construction leveled off at record high rates, and the two year decline in home construction was checked.

The report noted that the government purchase of goods and services, at an annual rate of 86½ billion dollars, showed a drop of about 200 million dollars between the second and third quarters.

Rev. Zahrte Gets Christ Lutheran Call

The Rev. Carl Zahrte, assistant pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, has been called to the pastorate of Christ Lutheran Church, 44th and Sumner.

Rev. Zahrte

The congregation of Christ Lutheran Church issued a unanimous call to the Rev. Mr. Zahrte, who has been assistant pastor at Trinity Lutheran Church since July, 1955.

The Rev. Mr. Zahrte graduated summa cum laude in 1949 from St. John's College, Winfield, Kan. He received his B.A. degree in 1951 and his B.D. degree in 1954, both from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Mo., where he also took post-graduate work.

He has toured with the Lutheran Hour Chorus and has worked in Lutheran churches in Yakima, Wash., North Hollywood, Calif., and Forest Park, Ill.

The Rev. Winfred Ollenburg, institutional pastor here for the Missouri Synod churches, has been serving as interim pastor of Christ Lutheran, since the Rev. John Bredehoft accepted another pastorate in Coffeyville, Kan., in October.

Grandmother, mother and daughter, all blue-eyed and brown-haired, celebrated their burthdays Nov. 15.

For the newly-arrived Cheryl Lee Scheffert it was her first look into the world at 3 a.m. Friday on the birthday of her mother, Mrs. Albert Scheffert of Lincoln.

Mrs. Scheffert was also born on the birthday of her mother, Mrs. O. L. Anderson of Waverly. No doubt father and grandfather will have little trouble remembering birthdays from now on.

GSA Hoping To Use Offices Here In Any Eventuality

If the Veterans Administration regional state office in Lincoln is moved to Omaha, Thomas G. Jay, regional director of the General Services Administration said, it is hoped that the GSA would have a continuing use for the facilities here.

At the present time Omaha is planning to build a new federal building. If one is built there the VA would probably be shifted.

The GSA leases the Lincoln Veterans Building for the use of the VA and other government agencies.

STATE DEMOS TO DISCUSS TRAINING, EXCUTIVE SEC'Y

A new training program and the possible hiring of an executive secretary will be discussed Friday at the state Democratic convention in Lincoln, State Chairman Willard Townsend said Wednesday.

"Our party needs to embark on an enlistment program at the precinct level to develop interests that will cause more voters to take a part in the organization, which we believe will bring forth new leadership," Townsend said.

"The Democratic National Committee, through the use of its area representatives, is instituting training schools to teach others who can instruct local leadership on the development of a strong organization," he said.

At the Friday meeting, he said, "I expect to show the conference the difficulties encountered in our present program and ask for endorsement of this new training program" which he "hopes" would be supervised by a full-time executive secretary."

Jay P. Larsen of Huron, S.D., regional Democratic representative, will explain the training program and the operation of the South Dakota finance committee.

The convention will begin at 10 a.m. Friday at the Cornhusker Hotel. There will be a noon luncheon and afternoon session.

Also included in the discussion plans are issues and recommendations for the resolutions and platform committee for the 1958 convention.

O. B. Clark, Long An Attorney Here, Dies At Age Of 76

O. B. Clark, 76, of 420 So. 28th, a retired attorney and a resident of Lincoln for 57 years, died Wednesday.

Mr. Clark was a member of the Lincoln, Nebraska and American Bar Associations, Lancaster Lodge 54 AF&AM, Sesostris Temple of the Shrine, Scottish Rite, Chamber of Commerce, University Club and the Presbyterian Church.

He had served as justice of the peace here in the early 1900s.

He was a 1910 graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law and a member of Delta Chi fraternity.

Surviving are his wife, Marguerite; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Saunders of Omaha; a brother, Dr. Rollo Clark of Temple City, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Dahlia Duncan of San Antonio, Tex., and two grandsons.

Yeah, Buddy The Feeling's Quite Common

A Lincoln man, apparently exasperated by the crowded bus and the early morning hour, Wednesday let other passengers know how he felt after the bus driver waited several minutes for a not-to-be-hurried female passenger.

As she boarded the bus, the man grumbled:

"First I have to wait around the house for MY wife to get ready and then I get on the bus and have to wait for somebody else's."

Woman, 30, Suffers Bump In 2-Car Crash

Mrs. Richard Bowers, 30, of 6911 Walker, suffered a bump on the head in a two-car accident at 15th and O Wednesday morning, police reported.

Mrs. Bowers was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Richard, 32, when it was in collision with a car driven by Don Schaufelberger, 32, of 3900 Mohawk, police said. Bowers was travelling west on O and Schaufelberger was southbound on 15th when the mishap occurred. Mrs. Bowers was treated at her family physician's office.

LEG CRAMPS?

One of the most common causes* of painful muscle cramps in legs, feet, toes, arms and hands is a prolonged deficiency of calcium. So says a famous doctor and widely-read newspaper columnist, formerly with the Mayo Clinic, and other well-known health authorities.

When meals, consistently deficient in calcium, are fortified with DYNA-CAL Calcium Tablets, tormenting calcium-deficient muscle cramps can be promptly relieved. But don't confuse DYNA-CAL Tablets with ordinary calcium-phosphorus products. DYNA-CAL Tablets contain no phosphorus which frequently interferes with the absorption of calcium. And DYNA-CAL Tablets contain a special ingredient which helps to put calcium into the blood stream quicker — bringing faster relief to cramping, calcium-starved muscles. Pleasant-to-take DYNA-CAL Tablets with calcium, betaine hydrochlorides, and vitamins D and C contain no drugs. They are safe, harmless, calcium food supplements. If you are suffering miserable muscle cramps, and suspect you are not getting enough calcium, ask for DYNA-CAL Tablets, today. Bottles of 90 tablets, $1.50.

*Other causes for muscle cramps are entirely unrelated to calcium deficiency.

Dividing Into Camps

The State Railway Commission Wednesday granted authority to the Consumers Public Power District to construct a heavy duty transmission line from the Nebraska-South Dakota line south of the Fort Randall dam to a delivery point in the vicinity of Lincoln.

In a similar hearing a short time ago the commission gave the green light to the Nebraska Generation and Transmission Co-operative for a line of the same size from the same source but to a different destination.

Both agencies propose to pay for the line whose financing was thrice rejected by Congress.

The authority granted by the commission does not mean that either agency will get to build the line. Its approval rather means that both agencies can go before the Federal Bureau of Reclamation with equal advantages as far as official state action is concerned. But the electric power that is being sought is being produced by federal installations in the upper Missouri Basin. It can be given or denied as the bureau see fit.

Nebraska is watching this rivalry for bureau power with mixed feelings. The prospect of more electric capacity at the bureau's attractive rates is a pleasing one and the fact that there are two Nebraska agencies that say they are ready and willing to finance and build a line that the government has refused to build can be reassuring. But poorly concealed in this move to provide the line is an inter-agency rivalry that gives more evidence of divorce than co-operation. An inevitable question is approaching. It is, will the agencies' customers ultimately find themselves divided into camps in which the original public power doctrine of lowest cost power to all will be negated?

The Consumers Public Power District is an agency that has confined itself to serving Nebraska cities. G and T is a part of the REA family. Inevitably when these two forces vie for the same low cost power sources a division is being created affecting city customers and rural customers.

It has not yet been demonstrated that the customers care to be lined up into warring camps as their agencies are doing. Nor has it ever been demonstrated that Nebraska will be best served should this rivalry grow bitter enough that one side gets the bulk of the power advantages and the other gets stuck.

Snow-Jammed Traffic

Lincoln's blanket of white has brought speculation on a new regulation affecting car drivers. It is a regulation being considered in Omaha to require all motorists to equip their cars with snow tires or chains or stay off snow-covered streets.

There might be some merit in the proposal aside from its obvious advantage of eliminating a lot of traffic jams during and immediately after snow storms. The merit could be found in the often criticized city snow removal program.

If all cars were equipped with snow tires or chains, perhaps there would be no need for a snow removal program. As a matter of fact, people with chains would probably just as soon there would be no removal program. With a program, some streets are cleaned of snow early while others are left to be cleaned by nature.

The man with chains must use them for the streets which are not cleaned by the city and to get in and out of parking places. However, he also has them on his car when traveling the city-cleaned streets, and the dry pavement is mighty hard on chains. And the racket of chains on paving is enough to drive a man crazy.

The requirement for chains or snow tires thus might permit the saving of money by eliminating the removal program and still solve the traffic problem. There are many people who think that the snow removal program is too little and too late anyway, so maybe this is the answer.

Maybe It Wasn't That Way

A week and a half ago the nation was ready to forgive its leaders for allowing Russia to steal the lead in the conquest of outer space—especially after President Eisenhower gave the impression that a comprehensive reorganization of the missile program would be put into effect.

Besides saying that more money would be plunged into the program he named Dr. John R. Killian, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as his special assistant in that field. The President gave Killian the title of Director of Guided Missiles and said he would be clothed with all of the authority of the secretary of Defense. It was a natural presumption that Dr. Killian would have the power to hire and fire, reject contracts he did not think were getting the job done, crack heads if inter-service rivalry interfered with progress and do all things in his special field that the secretary of defense can do in the general field.

This was quite a different definition of the Killian role than the one recently given by Secretary of Defense McElroy. McElroy has explained that Dr. Killian will be welcomed by his department and can make any suggestion he likes.

There is a vast difference between making suggestions and exercising authority. And if Secretary McElroy is correct in his definition of Killian's role then there is a striking difference between what President Eisenhower promised the American people and what they are going to get.

Perhaps the administration will be able to surmount its missile and outer space problems without turning them over to a scientific czar, and perhaps it does not need more than an occasional bit of advice from Dr. Killian. But if that were the case then President Eisenhower should have said so.

The American public is not something to be placated or handled. Rather as a democratic people it is a co-operator in this business of running or saving a nation. If it is not given facts it cannot perform its proper function. Perhaps a good deal of this public complacency, this flight from reality is due to an inadequately informed people.

Continuing Crisis

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A visitor in the office was discussing some aspects of his recent travels around the state. In connection with fast moving events on the world scene, particularly Sputnik and its ramifications, the visitor said people in Nebraska were not worked up over conditions. The state of mind of these people stems from an immunity to crisis, he said. The people are so tired of one crisis after another that they are sick of such developments and will no longer take them seriously.

It would not be surprising if what the visitor said was a true report of what he heard but we wonder if it was an expression of the real feeling of the people. Perhaps it was but perhaps it might also be more of an expression of what these people want to believe than what they know to be the case. It could be an expression of desire as well as an expression of reality. There is no doubt that people are pretty fed up with dealing with the Russians, with trying to make their own ends meet and with other crosses in the path of life. But such an attitude as a way of life lacks reality because of its futility. As a matter of fact, any intelligent person realizes that all conflict in the world will never be completely done away with. As long as there are two people who think differently, there will always be conflict and the world is a long way from being of one mind on any subject, much less all the affairs which shape our daily lives.

A Dream Or Reality

In such a world there would be no incentive and without that a great deal of the purpose of life would be eliminated. Without the crisis of ill health there would be no advance in medicine. Without the crisis of Sputnik and other Russian advances there would be no advance in man's social and political thinking. Wiuthout the crises, it could be said that such advances would not be needed but if applied to all the rough spots of life, such a world condition or situation could become quite boring. If everything in life were free and there was no struggle for food, clothing and shelter humanity would be likely to be a mass of lazy, inept and unhappy beings, if still in existence at all.

There is little doubt that if members of the United Nations were polled in regards to their feeling on the disarmament issue, most would express disgust with the issue and call it a hopeless suitation. Russia walked out of the U.N. disarmament committee meeting with the assertion that the group would have to be enlarged before it would continue the discussion. Hoping to find some point of agreement with Russia, other nations proposed the group be enlarged by 16 other nations. Anyone might have thought that this was a real concession to the Russians and they would grab it as a major parliamentary victory. But such was not the case. The Russian ambassador in the U.N. spoke favorably of the expansion of the committee until orders from Moscow changed his mind. He then turned down the expansion with a new demand for even larger membership and a membership equally balanced as regards to political or governmental concepts.

Concession Snubbed

Certainly the disarmament discussions are discouraging and no progress has been made with them but the U.N. will not give up. There is always the hope that something might turn up which would bring agreement on the issue—that even accidentally some solution might be stumbled onto that would never be discovered if the issue were buried. Attitudes in Nebraska might be weary from pressure but they are not yet ready to explode into a vacuum of isolationalism or defeatism. It will be a sad day when constant exposure to crises invokes an attitude of indifference or apathy. That would be just the medicine the Moscow doctor has ordered for the free world.

Low Interest

The United States is hardly over the harrowing experience of being bested in outer space by Russia when now come the Reds with an economic offensive. They are offering loans to lesser nations at 2 per cent, considerably under the going rate in the United States. Russia is able to do this because it regularly repudiates interest due to its own government bond holders and won't pay any debt to a rival power. The United States does not hold such loose views of obligations.

Nevertheless the Russian low interest loan plan is worth study. It may seem that the American foreign aid plan of gift plus loan would be better in the long run but debtor nations too frequently feel that such conditions tend to make them subject to our wishes while an outright loan gives them a sense of greater sovereignty.

Service Bickering Contributes To Lag

WASHINGTON — One reason for our disastrous lag behind Russia on satellites and missiles is the bickering between the armed services. This was tacitly admitted when new Secretary of Defense McElroy gave the green light to the Army to fire one of the six Army satellites which have been gathering dust in a Huntsville, Ala., warehouse because the Navy was in charge of the satellite project.

It was only a few short years ago that the three armed services were put under one secretary of defense in order to prevent this bickering. Yet today rivalry has reached an all-time peak. Never has it been so bad.

To illustrate: the Army missile base at Huntsville looks over Air Force officers very carefully before they are allowed security clearance to come to Huntsville. They get clearance in the end, but not without enough red tape to make the Air Force wonder whether they are members of a foreign power rather than fellow defenders of the U.S.A.

One reason for uniting the three services under one cabinet member was to save money. It was argued that instead of buying different towels, sheets, underpants, boots, dishes, artillery, rifles and sometimes bidding against each other, the Army, Navy and Air Force could pool their buying.

But getting such cooperation has been a superhuman task. Some of it has been accomplished. But whenever the budget is cut, the personnel studying joint purchases are taken off that job.

It's estimated by some civilians in the Defense department that five billions could be saved, if the three Armed Services pooled their buying and also required competitive bidding instead of plus-cost contracts.

STARTED UNDER ROOSEVELT

The big question is: Why hasn't unification worked? Why hasn't the secretary of defense cracked military heads together?

To get the answer you have to go back perhaps to Roosevelt's day, when the Army and Navy got into the habit of running to the White House. Under the traditional American system, the Army and Navy are supposed to be bossed by civilian secretaries. But FDR loved the Navy and ran the Navy. The admirals always knew they could go over the head of the secretary of the Navy direct to the President, and they did—time after time.

In one case, Charles Edison, later governor of New Jersey, resigned when he tangled too vigorously with the admirals and they went to the White House.

The generals, not to be outdone by the admirals, also took their troubles to the White House. They couldn't always see Roosevelt, but they had a sympathetic friend in General "Pa" Watson, his military aide.

Adams Hands Adlai And Demos A Slap

WASHINGTON — Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, has broken the rule which is summarized in the vernacular as "never insult the host until he has paid the check."

Speaking in Chicago to a Republican forum, Adams said Democrats had been brought into the foreign policy discussions because the American people "want a bipartisan effort" and then added: "I am not saying anything about the talents of the people being invited."

He also warned against the return to office of "confused, irresolute stumblers who might bring us into another war."

The taunt, obviously directed at Adlai Stevenson and the raising of the "war party" issue against the Democrats, pleased the immediate audience. It is not precisely a spur to the creative energies of Stevenson, who was at that moment immersed in State Department assessments of its problems, nor will it dilute the ferocity of the Democratic Congress soon to descend on Washington.

Perhaps Stevenson may prove barren of ideas and the Democrats may decide not to play ball. There would still be time for Adams' type of campaigning.

Actually, the political audience here is hardened to Adams' notorious rudeness. It is discussing the new outbreak in terms of a very much larger question, which is whether it is possible or even desirable to have bipartisan foreign policy.

An honest difference of opinion exists among men of integrity in both parties and among observers. Adams is no doubt correct in observing that the American people like the idea of bipartisanship, though he rather incautiously implied that's why they got it rather than because the administration had real convictions in the matter.

One thing is certain. It will not work without real conviction that is necessary and more of that consideration in the little things which makes co-operation between men of strong opinions tolerable and even possible.

Even so, many experts believe that bipartisanship, as it has been at times practiced and seems now envisaged, robs the public of information it ought to have and of the strong argument from which evolves the best solutions. They would do nothing to present Americans with a plan arrived at administratively by consent of both parties except in war.

This school suggests that the test should be that both parties must act responsibly, each snubbing and isolating its own "wrecking crews." It believes the citizens can be trusted to distinguish between justified criticism and mere savagery..

Democrats already know what they consider out-of-bounds. It is that charge Adams toyed with the thought they are a war party. He did leave out the embellishment which earned Vice-President Richard M. Nixon their emnity—the implication that they are somehow tinged with treason.

Republicans might suggest that the taunt they would sacrifice the country to profits or a balanced budget belongs in the same category.

Russia Turns To Two-tone Autos

MOSCOW — The new 1958 cars are coming out in Moscow, just as in the streets of America. In some respects the changes are more striking than anything emerging from Detroit this year.

For example, the Russian car stylists discovered two-tone decoration this year. A real snazzy idea. One part of the body is painted, let's say, blue, and the other part cream. Makes quite a contrast to the all black or all dun-colored cars built here since production began in 1930. Hope the idea will catch on in America.

The U.S.S.R. also has a new medium price car, the Volga.

The other big change is new names for the two biggest Russian built models, the pre-war Packard design heretofore called the Zis, and the Buick design of similar vintage named Zim. There has been no change in these basic designs in a decade. The Soviet view of car building is not unlike that of old Henry Ford and his Model T. Henry ruled that transportation was more important than yearly changes in the shape of ashtrays. Both the Zis, which is reserved for Kremlin officials, marshals, admirals, high government officials and public figures, and the Zim, for the next step down, have 1940 Cadillac dashboards.

Zis and Zim have had their names changed for 1958 to Zil and Zig. Zis stood for Zavod Imenca Stalin, (FNS) the factory in the name of Stalin. Zim was the factory in the name of Molotov. Times change and so do some aspects of Russian cars. Zil, formerly Zis, means factory in the name of Likhachev, longtime manager of the Stalin plant. Zig is a contraction of the 13th factory of Gorky.

It is against the law in Moscow to drive a dirty car on the streets. Moscow motorists can also get a ticket if a policeman notices a dent in the fender. Keeping cars washed and fender dents repaired is somewhat complicated by the fact there are no carwash lots. Fender service is as easily located as a blacksmith for unicorns.

No automatic drives as yet on Russian cars. When such a system comes to Russia it will sadden a lot of chauffeurs and cab drivers who have become enormously attached to working the clutch pedal of their cars. The big cheerful drivers supplied by Intourist, the state controlled travel and translation organization, all drive exactly alike. They start in second gear no matter how much the car bucks and coughs. Whenever they get up what they consider is sufficient speed in high gear or they see a down-grade approaching they put the car in neutral and coast.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Off To A Very Slow Start

By HAL HASSELBALCH
Star Staff Writer

Rollo Ackerman of 3333 So. 14th made medical history of a sort last week when he saved a prematurely born pup by artificial respiration at least 15 minutes after it was born.

Ackerman and his wife Helen have been raising toy poodles as a hobby for several years. They were a little worried, they said, when one of their females was bred a few months before she was really old enough.

While Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman were at work Nov. 11 one of their friends and co-workers came to their home, noticed that the dog had a pup, and called the Ackermans. He hold Ackerman that there was no need for him to come home, however, for the pup was dead.

Ackerman went home, anyway. He estimated he arrived at least 15 or 20 minutes after he received the call.

He found the pup still in its placental sack. When he picked it up, Ackerman said, the prematurely born pup was cold, apparently lifeless.

Immediately Ackerman began massaging the tiny creature. After three minutes of artificial respiration he noticed a gasp. Holding the dog on the cover of the stove, he continued working over it for ten or 15 minutes.

When the pup was breathing normally and all was apparently well, the mother refused to have anything to do with her one-and-a-half-ounce offspring.

Fortunately Ackerman is a chihuahua fancier as well as toy poodle breeder. Two weeks before the premature pup was born, Ackerman's chihuahua had a litter. Ackerman rubbed the poodle on one of the other pups and put him in with the litter of chihuahuas.

It was still touch-and-go for the little dog. The other pups being two weeks old and full-term pups at that, Ackerman had to be on hand at feeding time to see that the little poodle got his rations. The first night Ackerman stayed up all night to help the pup get a start.

He is still getting up two or three times a night to see that the feeding is going all right. During the day the pups go to work with him.

At four days, the pup weighed two ounces; at six days, three ounces. A full-term toy poodle weighs from four to six ounces at birth, Ackerman said.

Nine medical doctors and one veterinarian have examined the spunky pooch. Three of the doctors were baby doctors. None of them had known a human baby to live after going without air for more than five minutes. Then if the baby survives, the doctors said, the child will usually not be normal. The veterinarian who examined the poodle said it apparently was normal.

Adult toy poodles are very small, as dogs go. The pup's father weighs three and a half pounds and the mother is an even three pounds. Litters of two or three pups are normal.

Ackerman said he had saved dogs by this method before, but none of them had been as young or as exposed to cold before he began working with them.

In the words of one doctor, this case was "one for the books."

Crisis In Education

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star:
If we are to surpass Russia as a world power, the most effective way to do it is with superior, trained, intelligent forces for good. In every field, we must prove ourselves intellectually prepared to meet the challenges of the world, the universe. And at present we must, with specific, concrete actions, answer President Eisenhower's call to meet the nation's educational crisis.

One very commendable step in the right direction to meet this crisis in Nebraska is the current proposal by eleven top University of Nebraska professors to change, very slightly, certification of secondary school teachers in this state. The proposal would allow basic subject matter departments (the sciences, mathematics, English, history, the languages), as well as the Teachers College, to have a voice in the certification of teachers. This would help alleviate the present teacher shortage and would make available, immediately, very highly qualified teachers of the fundamental subjects.

Another very commendable step in the right direction is Dr. Steven N. Watkins' fine program on the elementary school level to improve the education of mentally advanced students in the city of Lincoln. Accelerated courses for the mentally advanced are now offered in eight Lincoln elementary schools, and Dr. Watkins' hope to expand this program should be encouraged by every citizen.

We need to support all of our educators in their efforts to raise educational standards in Nebraska.

According To Daniel

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The present time requires that the courage of our nation must be fortified by a faith in God, for He still rules. In the fourth chapter of Daniel, Verse 25, Daniel explains to King Nebuchadnezzar that God will cause his abasement "until thou know that the Most High ruleth the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will."

The seventh chapter of Daniel is a forecast of world history, and I have put the important thoughts into rhyme:

Lions, leopards, also bears are emblems in our schools,
Nations and rulers, too, have such emblems, as a rule.
No wonder then that Daniel saw beasts
in times far ahead;
And he forecast world history which we should all have read.

Of four great coming beasts, we read in Chapter Seven.
They have all come, fulfilling the prophecy as given.
The first was like a lion with eagle wings spread apart.
But the wings were removed and given a human heart.

That this was England's lion and our eagle, there isn't any doubt.
But they fought at Saratoga for they hadn't found out
What Daniel long before had told them about.
So it was Yankee Doodle, a war, and a rout.

The second was a bear which would spread far and wide.
He (the Russians) fought and lost till the turn of the tide.
When he won at Pultowa under Peter the Great,
Where the Swedes couldn't win, since they fought against fate.

The next was a winged, four-headed leopard and the time did come
When the crowns of Bavaria, Burgundy,
Castile and Aragon were joined in one,
King Charles was made Holy Roman Emporer and Spain's flag was unfurled
Over great eastern possessions and much of the western world.

Spain's emblem was the leopard; Lexicon's show his four-headed crown,
And the wings of his colonies were the wings of his own.
Daniel said the beasts lived till dominion was taken away,
The leopard had been stripped and the lion loses today,

The fourth was more terrible; the last
in the line,
This was Hitler's Germany as shown by every sign,
For a thousand years he would change
the times and the law,
He wiped out Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland, just as Daniel saw,

Ten countries by him were soon overthrown,
"This is my world," thought he, but none was his own,
But Daniel beheld till the beast was slain,
And the land was broken, never to unite again,

Yes, Daniel saw that Hitler would be burned with fire
And the dominion given to a King that's higher,
For "There came with the clouds . . .
One like the Son of Man"
To receive the dominion and reign, that's God's plan.

The Big Plan

Beatrice, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Not for some time have they pulled such a boner. Regardless of France's civil affairs, it was a slap in the face sending arms to Tunisia, playing into another Russia's plans which she is using to break down NATO and bankrupt the United States. Had France not come to our aid during the Revolutionary War, there would have been no U.S.A.

Russia will spring a surprise in Korea and Formosa and then we will have our hands full. Instead of creating a new crop of millionaries, manufacturers should furnish the equipment at cost, and those intent on causing strife should be put in the front lines. Then there would be no war nor rumors of war.

France is vitally needed to help stem Russia's advance, which will be started as soon as she can get us occupied in Korea and Formosa.

Pineau Ends Mission To Washington Voicing Some Optimism

WASHINGTON (AP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau ended his mission to Washington Wednesday, voicing some optimism both over the Tunisian arms situation and the Dec. 16 NATO council meeting in Paris.

Before leaving for New York where he expects to stay during the debate on Algeria in the United Nations, Pineau pronounced himself "very satisfied" with three days of talks here.

He told newsmen at the airport that differences still remain between his country and the United States and Great Britain over the U.S.-British shipment of arms to Tunisia last week.

The foreign minister added that "the main problem now is to avoid passage of the arms to Algeria," and said he was optimistic this could be done. The French have feared that the arms might find their way to Algeria and be used by the rebels there aginst French soldiers.

At the State Department, press chief Lincoln White said that an agreement had been reached during Pineau's stay here to send the arms to Tunisia in such a way as to "allay French fears."

'Good Condition'

Pineau said also he believed the NATO sessions in Paris next month, to be attended by President Eisenhower, would be "held under good conditions."

American and French views on new proposals to be put before that session are "close enough to allow that hope," he said.

Pineau had a two-hour meeting with Secretary of Defense McElroy during the day and said afterwards "a high degree of unity of views" had been reached on military and scientific problems to be raised at the Paris meeting.

This was interpreted as meaning virtual agreement on the deployment of atomic ballistic missiles abroad. This is a key problem before the NATO alliance.

The foreign minister also met with Adlai E. Stevenson, now serving as a consultant to the State Department on Atlantic alliance matters.

SAN MARINO (AP)—This Italian-surrounded republic claims it has the youngest cabinet member in Europe. He is Pietro Ressi, 30, a Christian Democrat serving as minister for tourism.

Criminals' N.Y. Meet Is Probed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman disclosed Wednesday night that he had ordered the state investigations commissioner to look into the activities and associations of the men at last week's summit conference of mobsters and friends.

The governor said in a statement Wednesday he also had called for a number of inquiries by other state agencies. The State Parole Board and the State Tax Department are among the agencies, it was learned.

Harriman said he had directed Supt. Francis S. McGarvey of the State Police to submit a complete report on the conduct of police who broke up the meeting of 60 men, many of them well-known criminals.

'The Best'

Earlier Wednesday, McGarvey endorsed the manner in which his subordinates had acted. He said officers at the scene had done "the best they could under the circumstances."

The State Liquor Authority said it was looking into the meeting, which was held at the home of Joseph Barbara Sr., a beer and soft-drink wholesaler. The meeting was at Barbara's palatial hilltop home in Apalachin, in south-central New York state.

State police took the participants into custody, then questioned and released them. All said they were visiting a sick friend, police reported.

Those attending the meeting included Vito Genovese of Atlantic Highlands, N.J., once described by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as "king of the rackets."

Moscow Taunts U.S. For Lack Of Ballistic Missile

LONDON (AP) — Moscow Radio taunted the United States Wednesday night for failing to produce an intercontinental ballistic missile yet, even with the help of pioneering German rocket scientists.

In an English-language broadcast, the radio denied that any captured German experts had helped build the intercontinental missile Russian claims.

The broacast said the Americans and British captured the German V2 rocket launching bases and shipped the equipment and experts to the United States.

Then the radio added:

"Yet there is still no intercontinental ballistic missile in the United States, otherwise they would have had a satellite up long ago."

U.S. Pays Up

WASHINGTON (INS) — The State Department said that the U. S. has deposited $600,000 as a new payment on a 10 million dollar fund for improvement of Egypt's rural areas.

The action carries out an agreement made with Egypt in March 1953, under which the U. S. agreed to contribute 10 million dollars and Egypt $15,600,000 to a joint project known as the Egyptian-American Rural Improvement Service.

Mrs. Schaepe Dies At 91; Resident Here 73 Years

Mrs. Nellie B. Schaepe, 91, of 1747 So. 15th, a Lincoln resident since 1884, died Wednesday.

She was a member of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church and was born in Higginsport, Ohio.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Lynnie Jones of Lincoln; sons, Clarence and Francis E., both of Lincoln; four grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild.

Terry Gets County Tax-Exempt List

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Lists of tax exempt property holders in Lancaster County were delivered to the State House Wednesday as requested by Sen. Terry Carpenter who plans to hold a hearing soon to determine whether some of the properties should be listed in this category.

Chairman of the Legislative Tax Investigation Committee studying possible tax inequities throughout the state, Carpenter has said there is a question that perhaps the tax exemption law has been stretched to cover some of the properties.

Originally scheduled to be heard Thursday, the Lancaster County hearing has been postponed to give the Tax Commissioners Office time to prepare for the hearing and notify the property owners. It probably will be held in a week or ten days, however.

Carpenter told reporters he will be at Grand Island Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week to hold Committee hearings to take testimony from some 20 to 25 individuals who were to be subpoenaed Wednesday.

The witnesses were to be subpoenaed to bring their records to the Committee meeting. Carpenter said he had been advised Committee investigators have run into "a complete lack of co-operation" in their Hall County investigation.

The Scottsbluff senator also said he was advising other committee members of the Grand Island meeting next week, as well as telling them of his request to the governor that a special session of the Legislature be called.

He said he was suggesting to the other committee members that the special session issue would be discussed with them at Grand Island to get their thinking on the matter.

Isolated Kentucky Town Residents Shop Via 'Copter

WOODBURY, Ky. (AP)—Cut off by 14 feet of flood water, residents of this community of 95 did their shopping by helicopter Wednesday.

The Army dispatched the 'copter here from Ft. Campbell to bring in food and medical supplies. As soon as it landed, the pilot was handed a number of grocery lists.

The town has no milk, bread or egg supplies but Mrs. Frank Neighbors, contacted by telephone, said "no one is in great danger." Some stores, however, were flooded.

She said Woodbury, located at the forks of Green and Barren River in Warren County, has been isolated several times in the past. "We're sort of used to it."

She said the pilot, who was scheduled to obtain supplies at nearby Morgantown, also "is supposed to bring back the mail. We haven't had any since last Saturday."

Mrs. Locklear Dies At Age 80

Mrs. Anna Marie Locklear, 80, of 4010 Washington, died Wednesday.

Born in Jewell County, Kan., she had lived in Lincoln for 45 years. She was a member of the Methodist Church in Lincoln.

Surviving are daughters, Miss Elizabeth Knuth and Miss Esther Knuth, both of Lincoln; a son, Walter Knuth of Salem, Ore.; sisters, Clara Carl of Long Beach, Calif., and Emilie Brickle of Salem, Ore.; brother, Wesley Koerner of Salem, Ore.; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Ike To Sit In On Civil Rights Talk

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will sit in at the first meeting of the new Civil Rights Commission Dec. 9 in Washington.

Plans for the session of the 6-member commission, set up to make a two-year study of civil rights problems, were announced by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty at the President's vacation headquarters.

The announcement came as Eisenhower made ready to end a week's vacation mixed with work at the Augusta National Golf Club and return to Washington by plane Thursday. He will take off about 1 p.m. (EST).

The Civil Rights Commission, authorized in legislation passed at the last session of Congress, was appointed by the President earlier this month.

Own Office

The first meeting of the commission will be in the President's White House office. After conferring for a while with Eisenhower the members will go to their own nearby office in Washington and continue the organizational discussion.

Hagerty said the commission undoubtedly will discuss with Eisenhower selection of an executive director. Under the law the President will make that selection after consultation with the commission members.

The new law also provided for an assistant attorney general in charge of civil rights matters. Hagerty said in reply to a question that Eisenhower will make that appointment soon.

The President conferred by telephone again with Secretary of State Dulles, who was in Washington. After Wednesday's conference and a round of work in his office above the pro shop the President got in his daily round of golf.

Thursday evening the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will attend a farewell dinner being given at a Washington club by Vice President Nixon for Herbert Brownell, who resigned recently as attorney general.

Reds Meeting

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Radio Prague said an international conference is being held in the Czechoslovak capital on the history of Communist and workers' parties.

Taking part are delegates from Albania, Bulgaria, China, France, Italy, North Korea, Hungary, Mongolia, East Germany, Poland, Austria, Romania, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Paintings Swiped

NICE, France (AP)—Police reported five paintings valued at $47,619 were stolen from the Riviera home of Austrian industrialist Fritz Mandl, ex-husband of film star Hedy Lamarr.

For Dandruff-Itchy Scalp She Says Baker's Best

DES MOINES, Iowa — Mrs. Earl Williams, 462 S. E. 2nd St., says: "I had dandruff so bad I was always covered with it. It wasn't long after I started using Baker's Hair Tonic until the embarrassment from dandruff flakes, and the torment of an itchy scalp were all in the past. Let me also say a good word for Baker's Lathernist Shampoo. It is sure good."

The Maker's Guarantee:
Baker's Hair Tonic will do the job on dandruff and itchy scalp. Baker's Lathernist Shampoo will make your hair look better, or Money Back.—Adv.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

You cannot keep up with what the ladies are doing unless you read the ladies' magazines. There are some great thoughts between the cake mix and the floating girdle ads, believe me.

"Household finances usually do better if handled by the distaff side," says the author authority. "Women seem to have a knack for these things."

Well, aside from hollow laughter—and if I went around writing things like "distaff side," my family would be in the poorhouse within a month—aside from that, I would like to know more about this knack.

Most ladies I know have a knack for getting furious with the bank when the monthly statement does not agree with their own peculiar bookkeeping. I guess that is a knack.

In fact, I am sure that it is a knack. It is not mathematics. I do not know what else you could call it.

"First I deposited a $50 check," says Madam chewing her pencil. "Then I paid the grocer $14.25 and the shoes cost $31.99 on sale and . . ."

It is very social these days to let the lady handle the finances. And we are social as all get out. Even if it kills us and the banker too.

I have just looked it up in Amy Vanderbilt whose book solves all my social problems:

"A husband, talented as he may be in his own field, may also have difficulty in the handling of money and, if so, should be helped toward the organizing of his obligations.

"A general vagueness on the part of, say, a creative artist concerning the mundane matters of existence makes him in no way inferior to his mate who may be able to read a balance sheet at a glance."

Thank you. Thank you.

The main difficulty your creative artist finds about money is that it is so vague. In fact, there is not enough of it. That is my difficulty.

Now as to reading a balance sheet at a glance. I point silently to the settling of the luncheon check. Mesdames have discussed the current trends of Balmain. They have cut up all ladies not present and wondered "how in the world she puts on such airs with her husband's salary."

Now the check, please.

"Let me see. Who had the chicken salad? That's 90 cents and the sales tax is 3½ cents. Well, just give me the 93 cents and never mind the half.

"You had soup and the fish. Oh, did you see last month's copy of Glut? This fish dish sounds divine. You cook it in a court bouillon or maybe it was parsley. Now dessert was extra on yours because you didn't order the regular lunch.

"So that comes to—has anybody got a pencil—it comes to $5.23. Now why does the check say $6.85. There must be some mistake. Here you give me a dollar and I'll give you back 12 cents and that makes that even."

This is financial wizardy. And it takes more than a knack, honey. What it takes is cash.

U.S. MUST PAY 'HIGH COST' FOR PRESERVING PEACE

. . . Col. Oldfield Tells Trinity Methodist Men

Col. Barney Oldfield, a native of Lincoln and director of Information Service of the North American Air Defense Command, said Wednesday night Americans must pay the cost of preserving the peace.

Addressing nearly 200 persons at the Trinity Methodist Church Men's Club dinner, he said:

"We pay extremely high prices for a principle—the principle of clinging to peace until shown there is no other way. But it would cost us more if we had to defend ourselves in atomic war.

Hard Work

"Only a few talk in the stark terms which are required in these times," Col. Oldfield said, and the term "survival" implies "hard work, constant alertness, costs, lifetime careers of men, lifetime vigilance of us all."

Recalling a visit to Gethsemane, while in Jerusalem, Col. Oldfield said: "Some of the people I had known personally had had Gethsemanes, too, and for the same reason that Christ did—the selfishness of their contemporaries, the disregard of their responsibilities . . . and even those who had their minds more on the possession of pieces of silver than on the preservation of peace in the world."

'Soul-Tearing Choices'

Col. Oldfield said, "We have a whole new generation which faces prospects of the same soul-tearing choices unless the people . . . keep the trust which has been put upon them . . .

"You will hear the siren songs of economy more and more often, it being one of the privileges of peace to be inattentive and apathetic about wars and their consequences . . .

"We must all endure a mass Gethsemane about how much of ourselves and what we have we will give to insure the continuance of ~~what we have~~, ~~or~~ we shall have the awful atomic alternatives of entering in a mass grave . . . providing there is someone around to dig it."

SPY SAYS HIS SENTENCING STARTS HIM 'ON ROAD BACK TO MORALITY'

Editor's Note: This is the final article of a series in which confessed Soviet spy Jack Soble has told the innermost secrets of an espionage ring in the U.S. of which he was a leader for 15 years. Today he tells what he learned, following his arrest, about the democratic way of life in the U.S.

By JACK SOBLE

(Written with Jack Lotto)
(World copyright, 1957, by International News Service. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

The courtroom was quiet. My wife, Myra, trembled and held my hand tightly as we sat and listened to Federal Judge Richard H. Levet speaking solemnly:

"From an unfortunately mistaken allegiance or adherence to a fallacious regime," he read from a prepared pre-sentencing statement, "whether voluntary or compulsory, a transformation in loyalty rather than a mere reform in conduct is required.

"There is, I believe," he went on, "strong indication that whatever the reasons, remorse on the part of these defendants is evident and probably genuine in possibly varying degrees . . .

"Accordingly, my disposition is as follows:

"The sentence of Myra Soble is four years.

"The defendant Jack Soble is sentenced to seven years."

A Beginning

His pronouncement in the New York Federal District Court at 4:20 p.m., Oct. 8, 1957, was not for us a sentence.

It was a new beginning on the road back to morality.

We had begun serving our sentence many, many long years before, when in my first frightening encounter I had said "yes" to the Soviet proposal to do their bidding in 1931.

If we had only acted wisely and courageously when we first came to this country in 1941 by turning to the FBI, we'd now be a happy and respected family.

Our position should be an object lesson to those who may find themselves in a similar position, who may be under some compulsion, as we were.

We suffered the torments of hell because we were neither courageous nor wise.

Our life was a life of misery and fear. We were in agony every minute of our existence, writhing under this terrible burden that was pressed upon us.

We are now determined to expose the evil things we have come in contact with, hoping, anxious to deter others, to send out a warning, a plea to these people, to give them a helping hand so they can free themselves from the fears and shackles that bind them, as we were bound.

It was a providential day for us when our relatives engaged the services of our counsel, George Wolf, a distinguished and respected trial lawyer. His courage in accepting our case when public indignation against us rode high, his ability and his broad human understanding sustained and encouraged us in our long months of despair, degradation and shame.

True Nature of Democracy

It was he, by his precepts and conduct, who revealed to us the true nature of the democratic form of government in this country, based as it is on respect for the dignity and rights of man.

We must pay tribute to the undeviatingly fair and humane treatment of us by Judge Levet, by Deputy Attorney General William Tompkins, by U.S. Attorney Paul Williams, by his former chief assistant Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., and by the present chief assistant, Arthur Christy, by their assistants and by the special agents of the FBI.

Their attitude and treatment were not only a source of great wonder to us, but they too served to point out by contrast how utterly false and cruel is the system which is without consideration of pity for the individual.

To the American people, I can only contritely reaffirm what I said in court before sentencing:

"I deeply regret my past and my crimes which I committed against the country which gave me refuge.

"I hope that by my full co-operation with the authorities, I will partially do good to this country.

'Cannot Forgive Self'

"I cannot forgive myself for the things that I have done in the past.

"I had plenty of opportunities to straighten out my life when I came to this country, but I didn't do that.

"I beg you to believe me that I am telling you the full truth now when I talk to you.

"It is very hard for me, but I know what I did to this country which never did any wrong to me and which gave us refuge, which could have made us happy and respectable citizens."

Deluded by a false dogma, we turned our backs to faith in God and the good things of this life.

We now face long, lonely, bleak years of imprisonment.

Over and over again I ask myself: Is there hope for us in the future?

Myra's pale but radiant face mirrors her answer. She has regained faith in God and hope for the future.

Perhaps somewhere, somehow, there is hope for me too.

New Paved Road Open To Traffic

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Division Highway Engineer Harold Esom of North Platte said new paving linking North Platte and Stapleton has been opened to traffic.

This includes about 16 miles on U.S. 83 and about 2.3 miles on Nebraska 89-80. Part of the new surface will have to be torn up and reworked next summer because of wet weather in the early fall, preventing the complete mixing of the bituminous mat.

Albert H. Burt Residence Hall Ceremony Set

. . . At Wesleyan

Albert Henry Burt Residence Hall for Men will be officially named Thursday at a special convocation ceremony at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Attending will be the late Mr. Burt's wife, who lives in Holdrege, and other relatives and friends from outstate Nebraska.

Mrs. Burt will be hostess at a noon luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club for special convocation guests and for members of the Wesleyan administrative staff.

Mrs. Burt recently gave Wesleyan a Kansas ranch valued at $90,000.

Gov. Anderson Urges Sharing For Thanksgiving

Gov. Victor Anderson, formally proclaiming next Thursday as Thanksgiving Day, urged support for drives being conducted by three religious groups "with regard to sharing our abundance with people in need throughout the world."

The governor said the drives are the Protestant "Share our surplus appeal," the Catholic "Bishop's Thanksgiving clothing collection" and the United Jewish Appeal "special survival fund."

COLIN JACKSON TO SPEAK HERE

Colin Jackson, British free lance writer and former University of Nebraska instructor, will address Air Science cadets at 3, 4 and 5 p.m. Thursday in Love Memorial Library Auditorium.

Jackson will discuss current international affairs. The public may attend.

A graduate of Oxford University, Jackson taught a course in international affairs as a visiting professor at the University here in the spring of 1955.

Rail Commission OKs Consumers Randall Line

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Railway Commission Wednesday granted authority to Consumers Public Power District to build a high voltage transmission line from the Nebraska-South Dakota border, near Fort Randall, to terminate near Lincoln.

The Commission granted the request following a hearing Tuesday which saw Consumer's application contested by the Nebraska Public Power System.

When informed of the approval, CPPD General Manager Ray L. Schacht of Columbus commented that Consumers "appreciates the prompt action the Commission has taken."

Action 'Anticipated'

Dewey J. DeBoer of Columbus, executive director of NPPS, said the Commission action "doesn't come as a surprise. We anticipated it."

NPPS had protested Consumers application on the grounds that NPPS had been established as a basic generation and transmission agency and that it was the proper marketing authority for power from federal Missouri River dams.

Schacht testified that present NPPS facilities were inadequate to carry additional power. He also said that failure to grant the application would, in effect, grant NPPS an "iron-clad monopoly on high voltage transmission lines in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska."

Commission authority is regarded as extending only to determination that such lines conform to safety regulations, and to see that they do not interfere with existing facilities.

The matter of convenience and necessity is considered outside Commission jurisdiction.

The Commission last week granted authority to the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Co-operative, Inc. to build a similar 230 kv line from Fort Randall to Tamora Junction, near Seward.

It appears that the determination of which agency will build the line will be up to the Bureau of Reclamation when it decides to which agency it will sell power from Fort Randall Dam.

Board Paroles All Six Men Who Applied

The State Board of Pardons and Paroles granted paroles to all six State Penitentiary inmates whose clemency pleas it heard Wednesday.

The decisions were made by board members C. S. Beck, attorney general, and Frank Marsh, secretary of state. Gov. Victor Anderson, the third board member was absent.

Convicts whose paroles take effect in 10 days unless otherwise indicated:

Milo Warner, 23, Owosso, Mich., armed robbery; Cherry County; sentenced to 8 years in 1954; paroled effective next March.

John E. Berry, 31, Omaha, robbery, Douglas, 20 years, 1950.

Richard Guerrero, 23, Omaha, rape, Douglas, 10 years, 1953.

Donald Dixon, 26, Omaha Burglary and violation of bench parole, Douglas, 4 years, 1955.

Bernard W. Duffy, 34, Ogallala, burglary, Keith, 4 years, 1956.

—Wisconsin Horror Probe Pressed—

Gein Admits Two Killings

Mystery Of Mary Hogan's Death Is Cleared

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—Edward Gein, "Mad Butcher of Plainfield" and collector of 10 human female skulls, admitted Wednesday he killed at least two women, but could not recall whether he committed any similar crimes.

Charles E. Wilson, director of the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory, said Gein confessed the murder of Mrs. Mary Hogan, 58, who vanished Dec. 8, 1954, and the slaying of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 54, last Saturday.

Mrs. Worden's decapitated body, hanging by the heels and eviscerated, was found in a woodshed adjoining the nine-room debris-littered, dilapidated "House of Horror" where the bachelor hermit lived alone on the outskirts of Plainfield.

Details Withheld

Wilson withheld full details of Gein's confession as to how Mrs. Hogan, a divorcee and owner of a tavern near the slayer's 190-acre farm, died. Her skull, sawed off at the top above the eyebrows and covered with human skin, was one of the relics hanging from the walls of Gein's house.

Crime laboratory technicians refused to comment on a report that Gein had decapitated Mrs. Hogan and then burned the remainder of her body in a stove in his home.

Waushara County District Attorney Earl Kileen said evidence indicates that Mrs. Worden was shot to death with a .22 caliber rifle taken from a rack of weapons in her hardware store, then spirited to the Gein farm.

Spent Cartridge

A .22 caliber rifle, with a spent cartridge, was found in the store. Gein was observed talking with Mrs. Worden Saturday morning.

As Gein was returned Wednesday night to Wautoma, seat of Waushara County, Kileen announced he was preparing to issue a murder warrant. But he said that he would "accept an insanity plea."

Gein's attorney, William Belter, earlier told reporters he would enter an insanity plea on behalf of his client when he is arraigned Monday on a robbery charge.

Lists Combed

Authorities of five Wisconsin counties, including Waushara, continued probing Gein's past and combed lists of missing women in seeking to determine whether their bones were in the grisly collection.

In issuing the statement, Wilson emphasized that its contents "eliminate Mr. Gein from unnecessary suspicion and conjecture." This was interpreted by reporters to mean there is no substantiation to an early theory Gein may have practiced cannibalism.

Girl Friend Interviewed

The Minneapolis Tribune, in a copyrighted story from Plainfield, quoted Miss Adeline Watkins, 50, as saying that she had dated Gein for 20 years. In the interview, Miss Watkins said:

"He was so nice about doing things that I wanted to do that sometimes I felt I was taking advantage of him."

Miss Watkins said her last date with Gein was on Feb. 6, 1955, when he proposed to her. She recalled: "I turned him down, but not because there was anything wrong with him. I guess I was afraid I wouldn't be able to live up to what he expected of me."

Miss Watkins, who lives with her widowed mother, said she and Gein discussed books and "every murder we ever heard about. Eddie told me where the murderer went wrong, what mistakes he made. I thought it was interesting."

Lincoln Firm's Low Iowa Bid Hits Trouble

. . . Legislators Debate

DES MOINES (AP)—A recommendation against taking a Lincoln firm's low bid on purchase of Iowa Senate loud speaker equipment ran into trouble at the meeting of the Iowa Legislative Interim Committee Wednesday.

Roy Freeman, an electrical specialist employed to analyze the bids for the state, recommended the contract be given the Radio Trade Supply Co. of Des Moines at a price of $11,772 rather than to the low bidder, the Electronic Equipment Supply Co., of Lincoln, Neb.

Charles W. Wagner, state superintendent of grounds and buildings submitted Freeman's report to the committee and supported it, saying that the Des Moines firm would be more experienced at installation and more easily available for servicing.

Recommendation Challenged

Sen. Lawrence Putney (R-Gladbrook) challenged the recommendation, saying that the contractor would have to put up a performance bond which would protect the state.

"It looks like there might be a little collusion here," Putney said. "I don't like it."

"No, you are out of order when you say there was any collusion" said Wagner.

Freak Wind Kills 1 Man Injures 12

DETROIT (AP) — A freak wind tore the roof from a forge plant here late Wednesday dropping slabs of concrete among 75 men working below. One man was killed and 12 were injured.

The wind unroofed several other buildings and ripped out porches and plate glass windows in a small section of Detroit's East Side.

The Weather Bureau said the highest wind velocity measured was only 32 M.P.H. The tornado-like gusts apparently developed from a sudden shift of air pressure.

Killed at the Dodge Forge Plant was Harry Michalski, 43, of Suburban Hamtramck.

A staked down plane at City Airport was hurled over a nearby fence.

Witnesses said one unidentified man was picked up and hurled several feet while crossing an intersection within the wind-torn area.

Among the most seriously hurt of the 12 injured Dodge workers were Millard Kent, fractures of both arms, and Robert Rosse, head injuries. The injured were all taken to hospitals.

Philip Gives Wife An Electric Kettle On Anniversary

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip gave Queen Elizabeth a gleaming electric kettle Wednesday, an anniversary gift marking 10 years of happy marriage.

Just what the Queen would do with the kettle could not be guessed. It appeared to be some little family joke. He accompanied it with a piece of jewelry designed by himself, and a large bouquet of white flowers.

Congratulatory telegrams poured in from all over the world.

Bar Assn. Files Complaint Against Morrill Attorney

The State Bar Assn. Wednesday filed with the State Supreme Court a complaint asking that disciplinary action be taken against Morrill County Attorney J. C. Conover.

Conover served as county judge prior to becoming county attorney.

George Turner, clerk of the high court, said the complaint charges Conover with practicing law in his own court while judge. Estates cases were reported involved.

Conover also is charged with collecting fees to which he was not entitled while county attorney.

Rites Friday For Mrs. Calderon, 33

Funeral services for Mrs. Alvera Calderon, 33, of 2048 K, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday in St. Mary's Cathedral with the Rev. John Flynn officiating.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Thursday at Hodgman-Splain. Burial will be in Calvary.

Mrs. Calderon, who died Wednesday, was born in Lincoln and had lived here all her life.

Surviving are her husband, Frank; daughters, Carolyn and Denise, both at home; son, Frank Jr., at home; father, Ralph Parra of Alamogordo, N. M.; sisters, Mrs. Kevin L. Phillips, Mrs. Roland Anderson and Mrs. Rudolph Mendoza, all of Lincoln, Mrs. Albert Sanchez of Alamogordo, N. Sen. Ives Proposes New Laws On Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to help labor and management protect themselves "against the odorous minority of unscrupulous men in both camps" was proposed Wednesday by Sen. Ives (R-NY).

Ives, vice chairman of the special Senate committee investigating racketeering and other improper activities in the labor-management field, made public four bills he plans to introduce when Congress reconvenes in January.

The measures, all amendments to the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act, are designed to insure Democratic elections in labor unions, prevent misuse of union funds, end picketing practices aimed at extortion, and outlaw payments through middlemen to employes or union representatives to interfere with union organization.

Ives said these measures, along with two others he offered at the last session of Congress, were part of a program that he described as "corrective, not punitive" in purpose. He said he probably would advance additional proposals later.

'My Own'

Ives, who also is a member of the regular Senate Labor Committee, said in a statement that the measures are "solely my own."

The special committee, under the chairmanship of Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), plans to submit legislative recommendations later, Secretary of Labor Mitchell also has said the Eisenhower administration will propose reform measures.

Ives said he had decided that placing labor organizations under the Antitrust Laws, as suggested by some senators and others, "would not be feasible."

"While I am opposed to the evils of monopoly regardless of who is responsible for them," he said, "amendment of the Taft-Harley Act appears to be a far more reasonable and feasible approach than amendment of the Antitrust Laws."

One of his proposed bills would make it an unfair labor practice for union officers to be elected or other union affairs to be voted on except by secret ballot.

Charges that this requirement was violated could be brought only by members of the union. If the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) upheld the charge, it could void the results of the voting.

A second bill would provide criminal penalties for failure to file the financial and other reports which labor unions are now required by law to submit to the Secretary of Labor. The reports also would have to be made public.

BUSY JUDY TO ATTEND STATE MUSIC CLINIC

Judy Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Paul, 4644 High, is a member of three orchestras, but plans to find time this weekend to attend the Nebraska Music Educators Clinic in Lincoln, along with 1,000 other high school students.

Miss Paul

A senior at Lincoln Southeast High School, Judy also attended the clinic in 1955 and 1956. She is a member of the Southeast Orchestra, Lincoln Junior Symphony and Union College Orchestra and also belongs to the Pep Club and Y-Teens.

Other members of the Southeast Orchestra, who will attend the clinic are Lila Thoman, Kenny Tenhulzen, Gary Splain, Jane Spicknall, Jane Reed, Mary Poulson, Jerri Ann Olson, Carol Le fler, Martha Dennison and Jeff Childs.

Far Reaching

THE HAGUE (AP) — Paul-Henri Spaak indicated that far-reaching integration of NATO military forces and of supporting industries would be proposed at next month's meeting of NATO chiefs of state in Paris.

The NATO secretary general, who is on a three-day official visit here, told a news conference that NATO should progress from being a mere alliance into a community where "the chiefs of state will accept the principle of interdependence."

A Quick Turn Around The Town

THERE'S just time for a quick look at the town and its populace this ayem—Thought we might have more Oklahoma game guests to mention—but we haven't—However we do have news of a farewell courtesy—and there are Thanksgiving plans in the offing—Now on to the business of telling what we know.

* * *

THINK we shall begin with Thanksgiving—and some guests who will be arriving this weekend to spend Thanksgiving week—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Keyes and their daughter, Marilyn, will come from Idaho Falls, Idaho, later this week to be the Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. Keyes' mother, Mrs. Fenton B. Fleming, and to spend the holiday with their son, Charles Keyes who is a student at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Kappa Sigma.

And as a refresher—Mrs. Keyes is the former Geraldine Fleming.

WE PLAN to go into a huddle with the weather man to be sure of fair skies and clear highways next Wednesday so that Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Eiche and their family; Dr. and Mrs. Ben James and their family, and Mrs. E. R. Heiny will be able to carry out their Thanksgiving schedule.

The group plans to go to Carlinville, Ill., where they will be the guests of Dr. James' and Mrs. Eiche's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben James for the long week-end—In addition to Thanksgiving there are other things to celebrate—such as the wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. James and Mr. and Mrs. Eiche.

THEN WE learned that Mr. and Mrs. William Burke will be going to Wisner to spend the Thanksgiving week-end as the guests of Mrs. Burke's mother, Mrs. D. D. Harrington.

THE farewell courtesy we mention was a surprise luncheon held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John E. Murray when the guest of honor was Mrs. Charles S. Jackson. The hostesses were the members of Mrs. Jackson's bowling league (composed of a group of Air Force officers' wives)—and the reason for the party is the fact that Capt. and Mrs. Jackson and their two daughters, Sheryl and Patricia, soon will be leaving for Capt. Jackson's new assignment in Kansas.

BACK in town are Dr. and Mrs. Carl Bumstead who spent two weeks in Florida, Louisiana and Texas—Dr. and Mrs. Bumstead went first to Miami Beach where Dr. Bumstead attended a dental meeting—From there the travelers went to New Orleans where they spent a few days before going on to Houston, Tex., where they were the guests of Dr. Bumstead's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Bumstead.

FROM LAKEWOOD, Calif., comes word of the arrival of Richard Charles Loomis, son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard B. Loomis, on Tuesday, Nov. 19. Mrs. Loomis is the former Margaret George, daughter of Harold George of Omaha—and Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. Myron Loomis.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

BY ANNE SOWLES AND NEAL HIGGINS

Decorations typical of a swamp-land set the scene for Southeast High's Key Club Swamp-Stomp on Saturday night. Green lights cast an eerie glow over the couples dancing and enjoying the music of Roscoe Ambers and his combo. During the intermission Tim Wilson and his date were the lucky couple to win the door prize of one 1951 Mercury car door. A few of the couples we saw at the gala event were Ann Jones and Jim Brownell; Ginny Pansing and Jon Van Bloom; Kit Stuart and Dick Schmoker, and Linda Joyce and Dick Harr.

Thursday after school thirty nervous and excited junior girls tried out for reserve cheerleaders. The girls had to select a cheer and give it in front of faculty and student representatives and the varsity cheerleaders. The eleven girls selected for the final try-outs on Friday, Nov. 22 were Kit Stuart, Judy Howard, Judy Gronquist, Linda Joyce, Ruthie Reed, Karen Peterson, Joan Davies, Susie Sidell, Dee Stuart, and Marolyn Bergstrom. The five selected to cheer at reserve basketball games will be announced at the Chili-Feed on Nov. 25.

The Chili-Feed highlighting the close of the football season is an annual event given by the Pep Club. Following the feed there will be a dance in the main hall of the school.

Congratulations to the new sophomore class officers. They are Jim Hermanson, president, Judy Erickson, vice-president, Diane Peterson, secretary, and Ronnie Harris, treasurer.

Tip Dow, a junior, has the lead for the school play, "Charley's Aunt". The play, the first of this year, will be held November 27 in the school auditorium. It is a three-act comedy and the scene is set in England in the early 1900s.

Recently the halls of school have been adorned with camp posters for county-government day. During county-government day the boys and girls elected to the various offices will spend a day at the court house with the person who holds their elected office. The primary elections were held November 14 and the general election was held November 19.

The Quill

Mrs. W. E. Sealock and Miss Thelma Sealock were co-hostesses to the members of The Quill Tuesday evening at their home. The program included an article, "In Transit", by Mrs. Sealock, and a story by Mrs. F. C. Radke, the first in a series about a woman lawyer.

Style Show Is Luncheon Feature

All work and no play can make a Junior League Conference a very dull, even though informative affair. But the delegates of Region X, who are in Lincoln for a two-day conference, had a little fun yesterday when they attended a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club. And, as an added feature, the latest fashions in milady's apparel was modeled by members of the Lincoln Junior League.

Head C Of C Women's Division

Miss Mayme Stukel, retiring president, presided at the monthly dinner-meeting and Miss Elva Elliott, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Lloyd White of Kansas City, who presented the program, "The Form Divine."

Outgoing board members who participated in the skit were Mrs. Thelma Hecht, Mrs. Katherine Brown, Miss Lucille Powell, Miss Verna Hahn, Miss Phyllis Barribo and Miss Margaret Egan.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

Introductions are in order this morning as we hear from new acquaintances in the Park Valley suburb. The activity during the weeks ahead may well hinge on plans the residents are making for the holidays, but for the time being we'll want to make introductions and tell you about the recent to-do's in the neighborhood. All in all, we think we shall fare well in the suburb as we already have heard of coffees, courtesies for neighbors, card clubs and showers.

First of all this morning we'll tell you about the Park Valley Card Club which met last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Jack Herbert. Regular members on hand for the dessert supper and canasta party, in addition to the hostess, were Mrs. Kenneth Alles, Mrs. Richard Robertson, Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. Robert Gould, Mrs. Glen Herbert and Mrs. Louis Holland. A guest at the informal affair was Mrs. Joseph Steil.

All settled in their new home at 840 North 56 are Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mendlik and their children, Diane, David and Carol Ann, who formerly resided at 2010 K Street. The Mendliks have resided in the neighborhood since the last of September.

And recently complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Mendlik at a "house warming" were several of their neighbors who entertained at an informal dinner and evening party. The co-hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buelow, Mr. and Mrs. William Phipps and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen.

We understand that Mrs. Kennet Alles was a lostess last week when she entertained in courtesy to Mrs. Jack Speck. The event was a morning coffee, and included in the guest list besides the honoree were Mrs. Jack Herbert, Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. Louis Holland, Mrs. Glen Herbert, Mrs. Don Bangert and Mrs. Layne Westmoreland.

When Mrs. Glen Herbert, Mrs. Ronald Butler and Mrs. Thomas Whitcomb entertained at the Herbert home last week the affair was an evening dessert complimenting Miss Janet Jensen whose marriage to Clyde Lee Geist will be an event of Saturday, Dec. 21, and will be solemnized at the Trinity Lutheran Church. During the evening the bride-elect was presented with a kitchen and linen shower. Eleven guests were on hand for the festivities.

EASTBOROUGH

There was a gala affair at the home of Mrs. E. H. Dierks and Miss Ruth Louise Dierks on Saturday evening. The party was a buffet supper complimenting Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. Marvin Skappel who, with their daughters, Margaret, Lynn and Nancy, will leave the first of December for Memphis, Tenn., where they will reside.

Attending the no-host affair, in addition to the honorees, were Maj. and Mrs. Donald Shilling, Capt. and Mrs. Bill F. Francis, Capt. and Mrs. Robert W. Schneck, Capt. and Mrs. Charles W. Schisler and Capt. and Mrs. Robert G. Robinson.

A welcome is in order this morning for another new member in Eastborough's bassinet set. Making her appearance on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at St. Elizabeth Hospital, was Miss Karen Lynn Dunnigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorn Dunnigan, who have three other children, David, Diane and Joan. Karen's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Magnusson of Milton, N.D., and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dunnigan of Walhalla, N.D.

Host and hostess on Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rust whose guests were a group of neighborhood friends who were on hand for a game of Tripoli. Joining in the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hitz.

Dear Abby...

Good Luck!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I believe that I have a right to expect that the man I marry shall be as pure as myself. But how can I know? Can you advise me a way to find out definitely? I value my happiness and think that single-blessedness is better by far than marriage to a "moral leper."

SINCERELY, F. S. C.

DEAR MADAME: If you call anything short of "one hundred per cent purity"—"moral leprosy"—I think you should hang on to your single-blessedness.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's family gives Christmas presents to each other's children and they are all better off financially than we are. We have only one child and they have four, five and six. We don't see these people all year. This Christmas gift business is just a racket, and I am tired of giving presents to children who get so much they don't need our gifts. I would rather give the gifts to some poor child. How can I get out of this Christmas gift-racket without insulting my relatives? They are very touchy.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: There are plenty of organizations who would appreciate a donation for underprivileged children. Just send a card to your overprivileged relatives to the effect that a gift has been sent in their name to a needy child.

DEAR ABBY: In your column you wrote that a child should never be slapped in the face. I was so glad to see that in print because when my husband was seven years old, his Aunt went to slap him in the face. He turned his head to avoid the slap and she slapped him hard on the ear, and he has been deaf in that ear all his life. Thank you.

A READER

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where you think a child should never be slapped in the face. I am sorry to disagree with you. Sometimes we have to teach children a good lesson and a slap in the face does not hurt them physically, but the humiliation stings so that they remember better. I have slapped all my children in the face and you have never seen such fine children. Yours truly,

FOR SLAPPING

DEAR FOR: You slap your children where you wish and I'll get to the seat of the matter.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 29. I hitch-hiked across the country last summer. I accepted a ride with a fellow who was towing new cars to a dealer. In the evening he showed me in his contract where he could not drive at night. He did not have enough money for gas and hotel so I lent him $15.00 which he promised to repay. When we parted I gave him my mailing address, but I have not heard from him. I do not have his address or the address of his employer. How can I contact him to collect what he owes me?

HITCH HIKER

DEAR H.H.: If you know what kind of cars he was "towning" and his destination, you could write to the dealer to whom he delivered the cars on or about the date he made the loan.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BECKY: Dont mess around with the Mess Sgt. . . . unless you want to be just another tomato on his vine.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope

State Could Ask For Sales Tickets On Special Fuels

The State Division of Motor Fuels could require special fuels dealers to submit individual sale tickets to the division, but only if such procedure "is reasonably necessary for the efficient administration of the Special Fuel Tax Act."

That is the opinion handed down by Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck in answer to a question from Agriculture Director Ed Hoyt. The Motor Fuels Division, headed by Clay Wright, is under Hoyt's jurisdiction.

The opinion was prepared by Assistant Atty. Gen. Homer L. Kyle.

Adlai 'Isn't Invited' To NATO Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, who has been acting as a Democratic consultant to the Eisenhower administration on foreign problems, said Wednesday that he has not been asked to attend next month's big NATO meeting.

Stevenson made the statement to newsmen after he and Secretary of State Dulles arrived at Chicago's Midway Airport from Washington in a U.S. military transport plane.

Asked if he was going to the NATO conference with President Eisenhower and Dulles, Stevenson replied:

"I haven't been asked. There won't be a decision on that until later."

Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, has been working in the State Department in his new role as cosultant on Atlantic Alliance problems. He has said that he will review and discuss U.S. plans to be placed before the NATO conferees.

'Certainly Not'

Asked if he now considers himself a member of the Eisenhower team, Stevenson stated: "Certainly not."

Dulles came to Chicago to speak at a dinner sponsored by the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. While Stevenson tarried to talk with reporters, Dulles walked over to a limousine that later carried him and Stevenson and those who greeted them to downtown Chicago.

Stevenson said his activities were dictated by patriotism and his support of the proposals to be submitted to NATO depends on the program finally prepared.

Considerable Time

But he made it clear that he is going to devote considerable time to his new role. He said he came to Chicago, where he maintains his law office, to clear his desk.

Then he said he will be in Washington for a week or two weeks.

Stevenson reported that his conference Wednesday in Washington with Foreign Minister Christian Pineau of France was very satisfactory. Pineau came to this country to protest against arms shipment by the United States and Britain to Tunisia, on the grounds that the weapons might find their way into the hands of Algerian rebels.

Dulles previously talked with Pineau. Stevenson said, in reference to the over-all conversations with Pineau, that he wouldn't presume to say whether France will be satisfied.

CCC DEADLINES FOR SORGHUM LOANS ALTERED

The Nebraska Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced that, because wet weather has slowed harvesting, some changes have been made in deadlines for Commodity Credit Corp. loans on grain sorghums.

Sorghums on which applications for farm-storage loans are made by Dec. 31 must have been in the bin at least 30 days before samples are obtained, as previously required.

However, if applications for loans are made between Jan. 2 and Jan. 24, the sorghums need have been in the bin only seven days.

If applications are made between Jan. 27 and the final availability date, no storage time is required before samples are taken.

Producers who do not harvest in time to apply for loans by Jan. 27 should obtain purchase agreements no later than Jan. 31, according to Wilfred R. Nelson, state ASC chairman.

Another Stolen Auto Spotted By GI Trooper

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Trooper Wayne Rowe of Grand Island, who has a reputation for spotting stolen cars, added another to his score.

While patrolling west of Alda, Rowe caught two or three numbers of the mud-smeared South Dakota license plate—enough to recall a stolen car item from Yankton, S. D. He permitted the westbound car to pass and then radioed ahead to Trooper Francis Dineen of Kearney to set up a roadblock.

The two Safety Patrolmen halted the stolen car—for it proved to be the car wanted by Yankton authorities — near Shelton and held for investigation its two occupants, Oliver T. Dickey, 31, Spencer, Neb., and Anthony Lowe, 29, Marty, S. D.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

Just triplicated the transferable rumor that Stassen is all out for the gubernatorial works in Pennsylvania. Hal has sent to Minnesota for his working papers.

Stassen didn't admit the elastic impeachment right out like a yell from a barber chair. He always beat around the shrubbery like a sore-nosed bird dog.

He made governor of Minnesota, prexy of a big educational clinic and changed the strings on Ike's political yo-yo. But in 1956 he went off on his own like a Swiss guide in a private avalanche.

He plugged Chris Herter of Massachusetts for veep instead of Dick Nixon. When you're hanging to a trapeze by your teeth you're allowed only one cavity.

Stassen always aimed high at his rabbits hoping he would knock off a giraffe.

Exeter 8-Man Champ

3rd Straight Title For Eagles

By AL BEEBE
Star Sports Staff Writer

Exeter, riding a 27-game winning streak, is The Star's top team in the final eight-man football rankings for the third consecutive year.

The Eagles romped through eight more wins in 1957, with only Odell and Milford providing tough opposition, each holding Exeter to only two-touchdown wins.

But the title was not won without opposition, and strong opposition, from Red Willow, which capped a ten-game unbeaten year with a 44-7 romp over rated Dakota City in the Big Brothers Bowl at Hastings last year.

The only major alteration in the rankings from last week was caused by Davenport's 7-6 triumph over Lawrence, which had been rated third.

Here is a rundown on the top ten:

1. Exeter—Jerry Bristol, Larry Starr, Tom Harre and Dick Harrison paced the Eagles to yet another fine season. As in past years, speed was the essential ingredient. A 46-12 triumph over Ceresco after mid-season moved the Eagles to the top and they stayed there.

2. Red Willow—Don and Larry Reiners, plus backs Burdette Malleck and Raymond Fisher, powered an easy 10-0 season. Only Palisade, which lost 26-6, gave any sort of battle.

3. O'Neill St. Mary's—Another unbeaten team, with nine wins. Included was one-point decision over rated Norfolk Sacred Heart.

4. Ceresco—Stayed near the top all year, with only the loss to Exeter marring a nine-game slate. Best wins over tough Mead and Milford.

5. Davenport—Climbed into the list two weeks ago on 33-18 decision over Chester, then made top five on win over Lawrence. Only slip was in opening game, when Fairmont scored 26-13 win. After that, Davenport rolled.

6. Lawrence—In the top five all year until upset by Davenport. Best win 25-14 over Chester and 19-0 over Fairmont.

7. Elm Creek—Fourth unbeaten team in the list, capping eight-game season with 24-20 margin over Amherst for Ft. Kearney Conference title.

8. Dakota City—Unbeaten until meeting Red Willow. Beat two other rated teams, Norfolk Sacred Heart and Emerson.

9. Norfolk Sacred Heart—Moved into list this week during season of moving into 11-man ball. Had 2-1 record in 11-man, and 2-3 in eight-man, with only losses in class to rated teams.

10. Emerson—Capped fine season with 7-0 win over tough Mead in Viking Bowl. Lost only to Dakota City in 8-1 year.

Tangerine Bowl Scratches 3 Teams

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Three schools Wednesday were dropped from consideration as opponents for Mississippi Southern in the 12th annual Tangerine Bowl football game while one was added to the list.

Those scratched after earlier receiving feelers are Middle Tennessee State, Boston College and West Texas State.

Frosh Ace Sparkles But Nebraska Varsity Wins

Veterans Nudge Yearlings 60-58

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Writer

The Nebraska freshmen—with Easy Al Maxey in the saddle—set the pace for 45 minutes against the Cornhusker varsity cagers Wednesday night.

It took a 10-point rally in the last five minutes by the veterans to squeak past the yearlings 60-58.

Herschell Turner, Indianapolis sophomore, triggered the fast finish with three buckets, a free throw and some dazzling passes.

The freshmen were pressing 50-51 with six minutes left when Turner stepped on the gas. He dropped a free throw to widen the margin to 52-50, fired a pass behind his back to Jim Kubacki under the bucket who dropped it in to make it 54-50, and then hit a pair of jumpers to fatten the lead to eight points.

The frosh fought back with a tip-in by Hebron's Mel Harmon, a Harmon free throw and a jump shot by Dean Prazak of Clarkson and a charity toss by Maxey to cut the gap to 56-58.

Then Wilson Fitzpatrick layed up a two-pointer for the varsity with 1:04 left, and although Jim Kowalki of Sioux City hit a long jump shot, the freshman were beaten.

Leading scorer for the night was Maxey, a smoothie from Indianapolis. The little freshman poured in 25 points—18 in the first half—and put on a fine rebounding show to keep the freshmen ahead most of the way.

The battling newcomer was the whole show for the frosh and kept several varsity combinations from clicking.

Husker Coach Jerry Bush used all of his players in the varsity's initial game-type scrimmage.

Gary Reimers, 5-10 veteran from Millard, was the smoothest of the varsity in the '57 debut. The little playmaker popped in 12 points in the first half to keep the varsity within shooting distance at the half, 26-30. He finished the game with 16 points, high for the veterans.

The Huskers stuck to a man-to-man defense throughout the game in an effort to polish their defensive tactics.

Bush termed the affair a "typical freshman-varsity game. Freshman always are all pepped up in their first college showing and want to knock off the varsity."

Maxey almost made the wish come true, before an estimated crowd of 2,500.

Fairbury Named For Juco Bowl Contest Against Texarkana Nov. 30

Special to The Star

FAIRBURY—Fairbury Junior College was named Wednesday to play in the National Junior College Athletic Assn. bowl game against Texarkana Junior College at Texarkana, Texas, Nov. 30.

Fairbury coach and athletic director C. L. "Red" Grovert said the team will probably leave Nov. 28, carrying about a 33-man squad.

Fairbury replaces Thornton Junior College of Harvey, Ill., in the bowl. Thornton withdrew Tuesday night for financial reasons.

Fairbury was quick to accept the bid. Said Grovert:

"We are happy to receive the bid. I think we'll give them a good ball game down there."

The announcement of Fairbury's selection was made in Texarkana by Wendell McMurray, chairman of the NJCAA selection committee, who is there arranging for the game.

Texarkana is rated among the three best JC teams in the South, while Fairbury holds a similar ranking in the North.

It will be the first bowl trip for Fairbury which almost earned a spot in the Little Rose Bowl in 1946.

Fullback Lloyd Scarrow powers the Fairbury team, which compiled a 7-3 season record. Two of the losses came while the club was hampered by flu.

Fairbury is the second Nebraska team to play in a bowl this year. Hastings College has accepted a bid from the Mineral Bowl in Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Trade System Angers Martin

. . . A's, Detroit Swap 13 Players

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — Kansas City and Detroit swapped 13 players Wednesday and ran headlong into a free-swing attack on baseball's trading system from the deal's key figure, infielder Billy Martin.

The trade was baseball's second largest between two clubs. It sent Martin and five other first string Athletics to the Tigers in exchange for three regulars, a rookie pitcher, a young outfielder and two farm hands yet to be named.

Martin, who after eight years with the champion New York Yankees has now been swapped twice in a single year, told newsmen he would demand a cash settlement from Kansas City. He indicated he might be holdout if hi demands are rejected.

"They just can't throw us (players) around from one club to another without us having a say-so," the irate Martin told newsmen. "I don't have any argument with Detroit. My argument is with the Kansas City Athletics. If I am a tool of this great machine of baseball, I want to get something out of it."

George Selkirk, A's director of player personnel, said the little second baseman didn't have a chance to collect from Kansas City; that the Tigers had acepted Martin's contract and "his argument is with the Detroit ball club."

Tiger General Manager John McHale said in Detroit "there won't be any contract trouble—no trouble of any kind. He's going to fit right into our organization. Everything will be all right."

Sent to Detroit with Martin were pitchers Tom Morgan and Maurice (Mickey) McDermott; catcher Tim Thompson; and outfielders Gus Zernial and Lou Skizas.

In return Kansas City got outfielders Bill Tuttle and Jim Small; pitchers Duane (Duke) Maas and John Tsitouris; catcher Frank House; and the two farm hands, yet to be selected.

Martin, McDermott, Morgan and Skizas were obtained by the Athletics in trades with the Yankees. Thompson was purchased from Brooklyn and Zernial has been with the A's since 1951 when the club, then at Philadelphia, obtained him from the Chicago White Sox.

Maas, Tuttle and House were front line performers for Detroit last season. Small, signed for a reputed bonus of $35,000 in 1955, is just 20 years old. Last summer after completion of his bonus period, he was sent down to Charleston of the American Association for additional seasoning. Tsitouris played for Charleston most of last season.

Martin, reportedly sought by six clubs, said he understood Detroit wanted him to play shortstop, replacing Harvey Kuenn who is due to be shifted to the outfield. Morgan has a record as a fine spring pitcher and Tiger pitching coach Willis Hudlin said in Detroit he thought McDermott, a one-time 18-game winner with Boston, "can be a winner again."

Detroit's Martin . . . wants something for trade.

Carolina Loop Plans 140-Game '58 Schedule

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C., (AP)—Directors of the Class B Carolina League adopted a 140-game 1958 schedule and cut the Shaughnessy-type playoff to a maximum of four games.

BUSH DISCLAIMS 'STARTING FIVE'

Coach Jerry Bush of the University of Nebraska basketball team is trying to make one thing clear this season. The Huskers do not have a "starting five."

"A starting 10 or 12 would be more like it," Jerry said. Not that he plans to have 10 or 12 players start each game but he has the depth this year which means that any one of the 12 could start without losing too much efficiency.

"The starting five will be determined by the type of offensive and defensive play employed by the opposition," Coach Bush said.

"We could put a team on the floor that would average 6-7 in height." "Not that we will but we could. We have some players better adapted to zone defense, others who are tougher playing man-for-man. The way the game has progressed necessitates having more than five players you can count on.

"This year it appears that we have the depth, for which I am very thankful," Bush said.

Notre Dame has been playing football for 69 seasons.

Snow Has Husker, OU Clubs Worried

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

If Nebraska's Memorial Stadium is blanketed with snow or the field is muddy, the Cornhuskers will have the experience edge over the Oklahoma Sooners.

Bill Jennings is seeing to it that the Huskers get a speaking acquaintance with poor field conditions.

The Nebraska coach took his squad outside again Wednesday for a brief period of work in the snow before finishing up in the Field House.

Most of the players were galloping about in ankle-deep snow, but a few of the shorter boys found the white stuff just about knee-deep.

"We've got to be prepared for whatever the playing conditions are Saturday," Bill said. "And it doesn't look like they'll be very good."

Jennings was referring to the Stadium turf which is blanketed with about eight inches of snow.

The unseasonably heavy snowfall has school officials in a quandry. Stadium seats have been cleaned off, but the job of clearing the field presents more of a chore.

Because the ground under the snow is extremely muddy, its impossible to use a tractor and snow plow to push off some of the snow. The tractor wheels would sink into the mud and tear up the turf irreparably.

The condition of the field is causing concern in the Sooner camp, too. An Oklahoma official telephoned the NU athletic office Wednesday and offered some suggestions for snow removal.

Nebraska officials are hoping the snow will melt in a day or two, thus relieving the removal situation. It's possible that they'll be confronted with the monumental task of hand-shoveling the snow off the field.

The snow problem is a new one for Coach Jennings.

"I've never played or coached in a game in which snow was a factor," Bill said Wednesday. "If it's snowing Saturday or if there's snow on the field, it will be a new experience."

Jennings said Wednesday that Nebraska lineups against Oklahoma would probably be the same as those that played against Colorado.

Long Forward Pass First Unveiled In Sooner-NU Tilt 45 Years Ago

Lincoln Star Special

NORMAN, Okla. — It was in the Nebraska-Oklahoma game of 45 years ago that Bennie Owen, Oklahoma's little one-armed coach, first unveiled the long forward pass.

Now living in semi-retirement here at the age of 82, Owen was the first football coach in the country to emphasize the modern principle that numerical profusion of forward passes was practical and sound. He began to experiment with it in this first Nebraska-Oklahoma clash of all time.

It was the year 1912. Nebraska, coached by Ewald "Jumbo" Steihm, former Wisconsin center, owned a crushing ground offensive of epic sweep and power. Owen knew the swelling tide of the Nebraska rushing, consequently he spent the week before the game at Lincoln speeding up his running sequences and plumbing the possibilities of the long pass.

Played in a gale-like northwest wind before an enthusiastic Cornhusker crowd that was booted and overcoated against the freezing cold, the battle was savagely contested. Nebraska won it 13-9, making more than 400 net yards rushing. But the Sooner aerial play kept Owen's lightish club in contention all the way.

Oklahoma began the game with a 75-yard touchdown march. After Nebraska had wrecked two Sooner plays in midfield, Claude Reeds, Sooner fullback, dropped back to punt but instead shot a long pass to Left Tackle Billie Clark, the Sooner left end backing up a step to make Clark eligible, and Clark scurried to the Scarlet 12. Ray Courtright scored three plays later on a sweep.

Nebraska responded with several pulverizing ground marches that pressed the Sooners flatter than cardboard. Steihm's Roller moved 70 yards to the tying touchdown, 80 yards to the winning touchdown, and smashed three times inside the Sooner 10. But fumbles and fighting Oklahoma goal-line stands frustrated the Cornhuskers.

Late in the game, Reeds pegged another long forward pass half the length of the frozen field. The Cornhuskers stood wonderstruck, watching the roundish ball ride in the frosty air. The sprinting Courtright caught it on the Nebraska 6 but Towle, the Nebraska safety, knocked him loose from it with a savage tackle, Nebraska recovering.

On the game's final play with Nebraska leading 13-9, Courtright whipped another long one deep into Nebraska's left defensive corner. The late Trim Capshaw, Oklahoma half, speared it and was off to the goal. The final gun spat flame. The game was over but undecided. If Capshaw scored, Oklahoma won. He was carrying the ball game in his flying legs. However, Captain Frank of Nebraska, the last tackler, nailed him short of the goal.

The Nebraska press was generous. Cy Sherman, veteran sports editor of The Lincoln Star and the man who nicknamed Nebraska athletic teams the Cornhuskers, wrote after that game:

"The Oklahomans are entitled to full credit. No such forward passing or receiving was ever duplicated on the Nebraska rectangle. Cornhusker supporters came to a realization of the fact they were inspecting an altogether new variety of football.

"One reads in vain in the effete East for mention denoting that Eastern coaches have sensed or solved the dazzling possibilities of the forward pass as was exemplified here Saturday by the pupils of Bennie Owen, the one-armed Oklahoma coach."

Sooners' Morris On Third String

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Fullback Dennit Morris was dropped to the third team Wednesday as Coach Bud Wilkinson continued to shuffle his Oklahoma lineup following the Sooners' 7-0 loss last Saturday to Notre Dame.

Morris was bumped after he told coaches his legs had been bothering him so much he was unable to run wind sprints. The fullback still has not fully recovered from a knee injury.

David Rolle was moved up to first string fullback.

Ivy League Bosses Split On Proposal

NEW YORK (AP)—Ivy League football coaches were in wide disagreement Wednesday over a suggestion from Dick Colman of Princeton calling for the league to ignore the NCAA rules committee and return to two platoon football.

Most outspoken opponent of the Princeton coach's suggestion was Lefty James of Cornell, president of the American Football Coaches Assn. and a member of the NCAA rules committee's advisory board.

"I am definitely against it," said James when advised of Colman's plan. Colman, who succeeded the late Charlie Caldwell, said Caldwell had been working on such a plan. "It made practice sessions much easier and certainly reduced the number of serious injuries," Colman said.

"I don't believe in doing anything against the rules the NCAA sets," James continued, specifying that he was speaking personally.

James said he originally advocated two platoons, but is now opposed because "I found it was bad for intercollegiate football.

"I think a boy likes to play both ways and I think he is a better football player for it."

He said as many boys could play under present limited substitution rules as under the two platoon system. James normally switches two teams, and said he would vote against any such recommendation if it came before the rules committee.

Colman had said that with two platoons, "the college game was at its best." adding:

"It would help any institution where the boys have to carry the academic load that they do here."

Steve Sebo of Pennsylvania was enthusiastic about Colman's plan.

"If I could be more than 100 per cent for two platoon football I would be that," said Sebo. "It enables you to get your techniques down pat and gives more boys a chance to play.

"However, we couldn't do it unless Ivy League teams played a closed schedule—which doesn't seem likely with only an eight-team league. We play Penn State and Navy outside the league and couldn't plan two platoons for the league and one platoon for non-league."

Yale's Jordan Olivar said he was "fully in favor of anything that would enable more boys to participate in the game," and added:

"Two-platoon certainly makes it possible for the boys with limited or lesser ability to play."

In disagreeing, Buff Donelli of Columbia declared "I don't think it a good idea to have a special set of rules for the Ivy League. Personally, I prefer one-platoon football."

Harvard's John Yovicsin said he hadn't given much thought to the situation, but admitted "I liked two-platoons in its day, but since the rules change I've learned to like the present game as much. Both have their advantages. I would like the rules liberalized, but I'm not sure I would want to go back to two platoons again.

"My thinking on liberalization refers to substitution of kickers. They ought to be able to move in and out of the lineup."

Plainsman Basketball Slate Lists 25 Games

Nebraska Wesleyan University will play a 25-game basketball schedule against 16 different opponents this year, Head Coach Irvin L. Peterson said Wednesday.

The Plainsmen will open the season with a two-game swing into Illinois where they will tackle top-rated DePaul University and Northern Illinois State College outfits.

Wesleyan will launch an 18-game Nebraska College Conference slate against Peru State Teachers college January 7 and will not play outside the conference for the balance of the season.

The schedule—the longest regular season booking in Wesleyan history—was expanded with the entry of Concordia and Dana colleges as official members of the NCC effective with the current basketball season.

College of Emporia (Kansas) and Kansas City University are new opponents. Augustana of Sioux Falls, S. D., Morningside college and Omaha University are other non-conference foes.

Dec. 2—at Depaul University, Chicago, Ill.; 4, at Northern Illinois State, DeKalb, Ill.; 7, College of Emporia, Kan.; 10, Augustana of South Dakota; 14, at Morningside; 16, Omaha University; 19, Kansas City University.

Jan. 7—At Peru State; 11, Dana; 14, at Wayne State; 16, Doane; 18, at Concordia; 25, at Hastings; 28, at Kearney State; 31, at Doane.

Feb. 1—Concordia; 4, Wayne State; 7, at Midland; 8, Kearney State; 11, Midland; 18, Peru State; 22, Hastings; 28, at Chadron State.

March 1—At Chadron State.

Rice Star Hill Suffers Broken Nose

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—King Hill, Rice Institute's brilliant quarterback, received a broken nose in a scrimmage Wednesday but is expected to play in the Owls' vital Southwest Conference game against Texas Christian.

Coach Jess Neely said Hill, the star of Rice's 7-6 upset of Texas A&M last Saturday, will play against TCU and will be back in classes today.

Easy Pickin's Gone, But . . . Iowa, Ohio State Are Choices

By JIM KENSIL

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years ago, when spring practice was universal and the split-T was revolutionary, this football forecasting must have been a cinch. After picking at least 49 out of 50 high school winners each week, we used to laugh at the guys who stumbled over the college results.

Why all they had to do was pick Notre Dame, Michigan, Southern Methodist, Penn State, Texas, Alabama, Penn, Southern California, North Carolina and Georgia Tech. They were the top ten teams in 1947 and a real batch of sure-things.

But now spring practice is only for the bowl prospects, the split-T has replaced the common man, and the sure-things, well . . .

Iowa over Notre Dame—the Irish season was pronounced successful last week at Norman, Okla. The Hawkeyes need this one to save theirs.

Ohio State over Michigan—a few weeks back we would have looked at it differently, but the Buckeyes are now the hottest team going.

Baylor over SMU—there hasn't been a sure-thing in the Southwest since Doak Walker and Kyle Rote stopped playing for the fun of it.

Pitt over Penn State—this is the one that might have been for the Lambert Trophy, but Pitt skidded early and State started late.

Mississippi Southern over Alabama—and who would have ever thought dogs would be quarterbacking satellites?

UCLA over Southern Cal—but why get excited about it? A team named Oregon is going to the Rose Bowl.

Duke over North Carolina—the Tar Heels are on their way back, but the resurgence won't reach Durham.

Florida over Georgia Tech—the Wrecks are just ramblin' these days.

Texas? Penn? Gone from elite, but not forgotten. They'll get theirs on Thanksgiving Day.

Current powers who figure to win going away Saturday include: Michigan State over Kansas State, Auburn over Florida State and Oklahoma over Nebraska.

In close ones, the picks are Oregon State over Oregon, Princeton over Dartmouth, Rice over TCU, Rutgers over Columbia, Kansas over Missouri and West Virginiya over Syracuse.

East — Yale over Harvard, Villanova over Wichita and Lehigh over Lafayette.

Midwest — Detroit over Dayton, Wisconsin over Minnesota, Houston over Tulsa, Purdue over Indiana, Illinois over Northwestern, Colorado over Iowa State.

South — Clemson over Wake Forest, Tennessee over Kentucky, Vanderbilt over The Citadel, North Carolina State over South Carolina, Maryland over Virginia.

Southwest — Oklahoma State over Hardin-Simmons, Arkansas over Texas Tech.

Ord—end Frank Schamp, backs Gerald Dunlop and Kent Hornickel, tackle Delmer Conner, center Marvin Witherwax.

Central City—backs Ralph Condon and Roger Roscoe; ends Bill Whitson, Richard Monson, and Marty Miller.

Aurora—backs Jack Conger and Don Miller; tackle Robert Park, ends Larry Holtzen and Ron Ingram, center Larry Dieckman, and guard Wendell Mankin.

NSAA May Cut Grid Schedules

A proposal to limit Nebraska high school football teams to schedules ending on or before the week preceding Thanksgiving will be before the Nebraska School Activities Assn. at its Dec. 5 assembly session in Lincoln.

If the proposal is adopted the season would have to end one week earlier than now provided under NSAA rules.

Other proposals to come before the assembly include:

All football games must be played on the home field of one of the teams. This would prohibit playing any "bowl" games on a neutral field.

Banning of any bowl games sponsored by non-school organizations.

The assembly will also discuss a proposal that teams must file a copy of first team schedules with the NSAA secretary before Oct. 1, the schedule to include provisions for conference play-off games.

GAVILAN WINS UNANIMOUSLY

CHICAGO (INS) — Former welterweight champion Kid Gavilan pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Walter Byars Wednesday night in a nationally televised boxing bout at the Chicago Stadium.

The 31-year-old Gavilan thus avenged an earlier defeat inflicted on him by Byars last December in Boston.

The bout was hard fought most of the route, particularly in the sixth and ninth rounds when the men mixed punches even after the bell.

Byars' best round was the second when he stung Gavilan with three good rights and a series of left hooks to the jaw.

Gavilan concentrated on a body attack and seemed the stronger towards the close, especially in the 10th round which he won by a wide margin.

The decision to the former 147-pound champion gave him a 47 to 45 point total on all three cards—those of referee Frank Sikora and judges Howard Walsh and Frank (Spike) McAdams.

McCook Contender For JC Bowl Bid

PASADENA (INS)—Eleven junior colleges were earmarked Wednesday for consideration as the Eastern representative in the Junior Rose Bowl game at Pasadena Dec. 14.

Sample contracts were put in the mail this week to the following teams: Arlington State of Texas; Hinds, Raymond, Miss.; Northeastern Oklahoma A&M, Miami, Okla.; Boise, Idaho; Thornton, Harvey, Ill.; Kilgore, Texas; Olympic, Bremerton, Wash.; Trinidad, Colo., McCook, Neb.; Dodge City, Kans.; and Texarkana, Tex.

Representatives of both the East and West will be announced Dec. 1.

Twin Rivers Coaches Name Honor List

BEATRICE—Coaches of schools in the Twin Rivers Conference Wednesday announced their all-conference selections.

Falls City Bengals, winners of the conference crown with a 5-0 record, placed five players on the coaches' list, as did runner-up Nebraska City which finished with a 4-1 mark.

Following are coaches' choices for the all-conference honor roll:

Nebraska City: Larry Cole, end; Bob Harding, back; Jack Vondrak, end; John Christenson, back and Larry Tourville, guard.

Fairbury: Sid Regnier, back; Ed Kyker, guard; Al Maple, back; Wayne Huss, end and Byron Blobaum, tackle.

Beatrice: Bob Lockwood, back and Ben Stindt, back.

Crete: Marv Drevo, back; Dave Vitek, tackle and Jerry Henning, center.

Plattsmouth: Bob Hutton, guard and Ken Dasher, back.

Pizarro Ups Fan Mark To Eighteen

SAN JUAN (AP)—Southpaw Juan Pizarro, a sometimes starter with the world champion Milwaukee Braves, set a Puerto Rican League record with 19 strikeouts while pitching a three-hitter as Caguas defeated Ponce 1-0.

Pizarro, a National League rookie last season, broke the one game strikeout record of 18 set by Satchel Paige in 1939 while working out of a tight spot in the ninth. He fanned Luis Marquez with one out and runners on third and first, then got the next batter on a ground ball that ended the game.

Caffie IL Bat King

MONTREAL (AP)—Joe Caffie, Buffalo Bisons' outfielder, Wednesday was returned the International League batting champion for 1957 with the release of the official averages.

Snow Plows Clear Oak Bowl For Hastings-Peru Tilt Today

Lincoln Star Special

PERU — Snow plows and graders were used to clear the Peru Oak Bowl of the five-inch snow covering which fell Sunday night and Monday in preparation for this afternoon's clash between the Peru Bobcats and the Hastings College Broncos.

The 2 p.m. battle will decide the N.C.C. championship team for the 1957 season. Peru State and Hastings College have identical win-loss records in conference play, with six wins each. In non-conference competition, Hastings lost their opening game to Idaho State 22-0, while Peru State dropped their contest with Colorado State at Greeley last Saturday 3-19.

If the Bobcats are successful in knocking off the Brocos, it will be their first N.C.C. championship since 1953. The game, originally scheduled for October 25, was postponed when influenza invaded the Bobcat squad.

In NCC play, the Broncos topped their opponents this way — Wayne, 39-0; Doane, 7-0; Wesleyan, 26-0; Kearney, 26-7; Chadron, 31-0, and Midland 27-0. Bobcat scores over their N.C.C. foes in 1957 included: Kearney, 1-0; Chadron, 32-13; Wayne 34-0; Nebraska Wesleyan, 34-0; Midland, 33-6; and Doane, 31-7. In the opening non-N.C.C. contest, the Wheelermen emerged victorious over the powerful Central Missouri (Warrensburg) Mules 13-7.

The Hastings-Peru State series began in 1909 with a 6-0 Bobcat victory. During that time the Bobcats have racked up a total of 12 wins to the Hastings crew's 11. The 1910 game ended in a 0-0 tie.

West Kearney Needs Basketball Games

KEARNEY—Coach Sam Daemon of West Kearney High is looking for more games to complete the basketball schedule. Nine games have been slated so far.

The schedule:

Dec. 6—Arcadia; Dec. 10—at Litchfield; Jan. 10—at Amherst; Jan. 17—at Minna; Jan. 21—at Sumner; Jan. 27—Bertrand; Jan. 31—at Franklin; Feb. 7—Amherst; Feb. 21—at Wood River.

Packers Deny Blackbourn On Way Out

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Officials of the Green Bay Packers Wednesday termed "ridiculous a report that Lisle Blackbourn will be replaced as head coach next year by Clark Shaughnessy, defensive coach of the Chicago Bears, and be kicked upstairs in the Packers' organization.

"I have no idea where a report like that could have started," said Vern Lewellen, General Manager of the National Football League Packers. "We are not interested in contacting Shaughnessey. It's ridiculous."

The Chicago American, which carried the report in Wednesday's editions, said it learned of the purported coaching change from a reliable source.

"The report is utterly without foundation and too ridiculous to discuss," Lewellen added. "There's absolutely nothing to it."

Domonic Olejniczak, vice president of the Green Bay Packers Corp., also denied the report.

Earlier this season—one of the worst in recent Packer history—it was learned that Blackbourn was under heavy fire from the club's directors.

He apparently weathered that storm, although there have been indication that the board will make a decision one way or the other at the close of the current NFL schedule. The Packers are in the western division cellar with a 2-6 won-lost record.

A source close to the organization who asked not to be named said if Blackbourn were dismissed Shaughnessy definitely would not be named his successor.

Blackbourn, 53, has another year to go on his contract. The pact, calling for about $25,000-a-year, is an iron-clad agreement that can only be terminated with the mutual consent of both parties and then only if Blackbourn is paid in full for the unexpired portion.

In 27 football meetings with arch rival Connecticut, the University of Massachusetts holds a 14-13 lead in the series.

Notre Dame Center Is Lineman Of The Week

The Associated Press

Notre Dame ended Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak last Saturday. Center Frank Kuchta, who played an important, but at the time unsung role for the Irish, was named today as the lineman of the week.

The 205-pound senior from Cleveland, starting his first game, was tops in the weekly Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters that also drew attention to the great play by two ends, Mike Cavallon of Yale and Les Walters of Penn State.

While the entire Notre Dame line received high praise, Coach Terry Brennan singled out the 21-year Kuchta. "He did a great job against Oklahoma and he'll be our No. 1 man against Iowa." High praise, indeed.

Kuchta made perfect snaps on eight punts and on ND's fake field goal and later successful extra point conversion, in addition to his general alert play in the 7-0 Irish triumph.

Cavallon, from Winnetka, Ill., scored all three Yale touchdowns on passes as the Eli beat Princeton, 20-13. His trio of catches were good for gains of 62, 27 and 19 yards.

Walters, who was the lineman of the week several weeks ago for his play against Syracuse, was a ball of fire as the Nittany Lions beat Holy Cross. He made a game-saving tackle in the last two minutes. Earlier he had thrown a key block to help spring a teammate loose on a 67-yard kickoff return.

Ord Rates Cage Prospects Good

ORD—A squad of about 25 aspirants turned out for basketball practice Monday for Coach Bill Gogan's 1957-58 cage team. Six of these are lettermen along with two outstanding prospects to make this year's prospects the best for several years. The lettermen are Frank Schamp, Gerald Dunlap, Don Beerline, Don Vasicek, Dennis Vasicek and Bob Armstrong. This year's fourteen game schedule includes an Omaha team for the first time. Ord will be at Omaha Holy Name on Febr. 22.

The Schedule:

Dec. 10—at O'Neill; Dec. 13—at Gothenburg; Dec. 14—Central City here; Dec. 20—Ravenna here; Jan. 2-3 at Ainsworth Invitational Tournament; Jan. 7—Loup City here; Jan. 10—at Broken Bow; Jan. 17—St. Paul here; Jan. 24—Albion here; Jan. 29-30-31—Three Loups Invitational at Ord; Febr. 7—Fullerton at Aurora; Febr. 11—at Loup City; Febr. 14—Broken Bow here; Febr. 15—at Ravenna; Febr. 22—at Omaha Holy Name.

Sen. Curtis Urges GSA Hold Up Sale Of Alcohol Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) said Wednesday he has urged the General Services Administration (GSA) to hold up the sale of the Omaha Alcohol Plant.

Curtis said the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee plans to hold hearings early in 1958 on the Welsh Commission's report on increased industrial uses of agriculture surpluses and a bill has been introduced in the Senate for the purpose of carrying out the commission's recommendations. J. LeRoy Welsh of Omaha heads this commission.

"It is expected if this legislation is passed the Omaha Alcohol Plant and the two remaining government-owned synthetic rubber plants will be utilized in this trial commercialization program," Curtis said in a letter to Franklin G. Floete, GSA administrator.

"I think it would be a great mistake to proceed with the sale of this plant at this time," Curtis wrote. "I do not believe such a sale would be in the interests of the taxpayers. I think there is much to gain by waiting a little longer and very much to lose if we do not wait."

"I will resist the sale of this plant unless it is sold under conditions restricting its use in accordance with the program for industrial uses of farm surpluses."

Two Events Added To '58 Buffalo Bill Rodeo

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — Rodeo Manager Clark Hord has received approval from national associations for addition of two events for the 1958 Buffalo Bill Rodeo here. They are steer roping and a girl's barrel race.

OMAHA (AP) — Edward Shafton, Omaha attorney and civic worker, was named to membership in the city Personnel Board, succeeding Edward T. Foster.

Federal Irrigation Projects Warrant Study—Loveless

OTTAWA, Kan. (AP) — Gov. Herschel Loveless of Iowa said Wednesday development of irrigation projects with federal funds at an exhorbitant cost per acre at a time of huge farm surpluses warrants detailed consideration.

Loveless told the Missouri Basin Inter-agency Committee other projects in the Midwest area should move forward without competition for federal funds by huge irrigation projects.

Loveless had particular reference to the proposed project which would divert water from the Garrison, N.D., dam on the Missouri River to irrigate more than one state.

Cites Limitations

The Iowa governor said the proposed Garrison diversion project is acceptable with these limitations:

Rights of Iowa and other downstream states to use water of the Missouri River should not be impaired.

Consideration of priority of water use in times of low flow or shortage be given to private, domestic, municipal, pollution abatement and industrial needs throughout the basin.

Water for irrigation be taken from Garrison reservoir at times when there is a surplus or ample supply.

Protection Downstream

A minimum flow for the Missouri River below the reservoir be established so that rights of other downstream users shall not be impaired.

That thorough study be given to allocating large expenditures of federal funds to develop an area for increased farm production through irrigation in times of large farm surpluses.

Loveless said the proposed Garrison diversion project would require 2,626,630 acre feet of water per year when fully developed.

He said it is difficult to forecast total future needs for Missouri River water but that "Iowa and other downstream states are vitally interested in the assurance of water to take care of present and future demands."

Loveless said projects dealing with loss of life and property and the destruction of natural resources should receive the high priority among total projects considered.

Burglar's Visit Was Well Timed

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — A burglar who struck within 41 minutes after the closing of a filling station, was sought by North Platte police Wednesday.

The cash register containing $98 in cash, plus checks, credit cards and the day's records was taken from Ray Cox's Station.

Pat Cannon, the attendant, closed up the station at 9:04, and Cox intended to come back at 10 p.m. to remove the cash drawer from the register. But at 9:45 p.m. Police officer Clyde Paul noticed a window in the back of the station was broken and discovered the break-in.

Farm Mishap Injuries Fatal

TARNOV, Neb. — Funeral services were held here Wednesday for Michael Chochon, 79, lifetime resident of this community, who died in a Norfolk hospital from injuries received in a farm accident.

He was fatally injured when caught in a farm elevator.

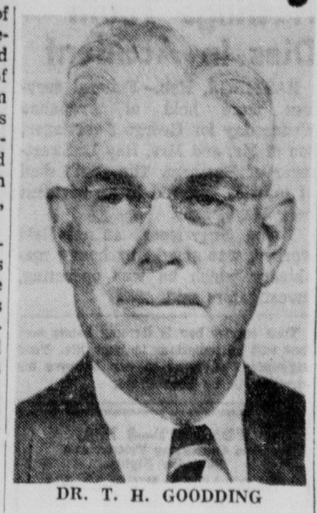
Surviving are his wife, Aloysia; one son, Ben of Tarnov; one daughter, Mrs. Felix Barnas of Humphrey; four grandchildren, four sisters and three brothers.

Agronomic Achievement Honor Given To Goodding

ATLANTA, Ga.—A University of Nebraska faculty member has received the first annual award given by the American Society of Agronomy for achievement in agronomic education. Dr. Thomas H. Goodding, professor of agronomy, was given the $250 award Wednesday at the society's 50th anniversary meeting in Atlanta, Ga.

A native of Missouri, Dr. Goodding received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Nebraska, and his doctor's degree from Cornell University at Ithaca, N.Y. He joined the Nebraska faculty in 1917 as agricultural extension specialist. Since then he has held various positions on the staff, including two years with the University faculty in Turkey.

Dr. Goodding received the university's foundation award for distinguished teaching in 1955. He has contributed to research, through study of soil microbiology and adaptation of legumes to agriculture. He recently served as chairman of the integrated legume research committee and was a member of the North Central regional technical committee on weather as related to agricultural production.



DR. T. H. GOODDING

Woman, 96, Honored

WAKEFIELD, Neb. — Mrs. Alex Carlson, eldest resident of Wakefield, was honored on her 96th birthday recently. She came to the U.S. from Sweden when she was 20 and has lived in the Wakefield community for 70 years.

Tiley, 89, Dies Only Month After Death Of Wife

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—William James Tiley, 89, North Platte, died Tuesday. He had been hospitalized since an automobile accident in Iowa a month ago resulted in the death of his wife.

Tiley's physician declined to definitely attribute Tiley's death to accident injuries.

Tiley was a native of England, but had been in the United States for 83 of his 89 years and had lived in the North Platte Community for 47 years. He was a former coal miner and one-time union official, being succeeded by John L. Lewis.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Myrl Wade of Carlisle, Iowa, and two sons, Roy of Albuquerque, N. M., and Harley of Fort Collins, Colo.; and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Florence Farris, Des Moines.

Fred Seaton Rumored For Benson's Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Seaton said Wednesday he expects to continue in his present job.

That was his reply to a news conference request for comment on rumors Secretary of Agriculture Benson may be "promoted" to another job with Seaton replacing him.

At first Seaton said he did not feel he should comment on rumors. That led to a question whether he would accept the agriculture post if it was offered.

Seaton replied that would depend on who offered it and the circumstances under which it was offered.

"I have all the trouble I want right here," Seaton commented.

Shickley Voters Reject Both School Bond Issues

Hot Lunch, Classroom Plans Lose

Lincoln Star Special

SHICKLEY, Neb. — Both bond issues, totaling $85,000, for additions to the Shickley High School, were defeated in a special election.

A $50,000 bond issue calling for the construction of a hot lunch program plus home economics facilities lost by a vote of 127 for to 187 against.

A separate bond proposal of $35,000 for construction of two new classrooms was turned down by a vote of 145 for to 168 against.

Supt. J. Stewart Catlett said the issues would "probably be presented to the voters again" although there are no immediate plans. "We need classroom space," he commented, "and we have about 225 students at this time who are eating cold lunches every day."

Poor road conditions undoubtedly kept many voters from the polls, the superintendent explained in relating that only a little over half of the qualified voters turned out.

This was the first vote on the issues. Recent redistricting brought a need for additional classroom space, it was pointed out.

Rites To Mark Start Of Dana's Building

BLAIR, Neb. (INS)—Mayor Ray Hansen of Blair is scheduled to turn the first spade of earth Thursday as grading begins for the long-range building program at Dana College in Blair.

New County Clerk

Mrs. Harold Davis of York, deputy York County clerk since 1952, has been appointed successor to Fred Voss, York County clerk who announced his resignation effective Jan. 1. The appointment was made by the York County commissioners. (Photo Special to The Star)

Firemen, City Seek $100,000

OMAHA (AP)—Two Omaha firemen and the city of Omaha sued the Allied Artists Film Distributing Co., for $100,000. Firemen George W. Wachtler and Willard L. Johnson each ask $50,000.

The firemen say they suffered permanent injuries when they entered the film company offices after a blaze and collapsed from poisonous gases. They had gone into the building to turn off an automatic sprinkler system that halted the fire.

The petition alleges the gases came from burning film that had been left in the open and charges the firm violated a city law requiring such film to be kept in vaults.

Rites Thursday For K. L. Chase, Mayor At Burr

BURR, Neb. — Funeral services for Kenneth L. Chase, 51, prominent Burr businessman and mayor of Burr, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Methodist Church here. He died in a Syracuse hospital after a year's illness.

A lifetime resident of this community, he operated a garage and service station. He was a Methodist, member of the Masonic lodge and Eastern Star. He was a past president of the school board.

Surviving are his wife, Bernice, and two brothers, Lloyd of Unadilla and Floyd of Omaha.

Chick Output Is Way Down

Nebraska hatcheries produced only 66,000 chicks during October, in contrast to the 182,000 hatched in the same month last year, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Wednesday.

Broiler type chicks hatched dropped from 80,000 to 47,000, and egg-type chicks declined from 93,000 in October last year to 19,000 last month.

For the first 10 months of the year, the Nebraska hatch is down 20 per cent from last year, a decline from 24,929,000 to 19,194,000.

For the nation as a whole, the October hatch topped the same month a year ago by seven per cent.

$340,000 Bond Issue Facing Odell Voters

ODELL, Neb. (AP) — Voters of Odell School District 74 will go to the polls Dec. 12 to decide on a proposed $340,000 bond issue.

The money would be used to build a new high school building and also provide classrooms for four elementary grades.

Expected total cost of the building is about $380,000. Officials said the school has a reserve fund which is expected to accumulate the added $40,000 by the end of the current school year.

The district five years ago covered little more than six square miles and had an enrollment of 140, 85 in the elementary grades and 55 in the high school.

Through mergers, the district now covers about 90 square miles. There is an enrollment of 200 in the elementary grades and 69 in the high school.

Hastings Youth Dies In Accident

HASTINGS, Neb.—Funeral services were held at Arapahoe Wednesday for George Swertfeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Swertfeger of Hastings. The youth died of injuries suffered in an accident near Hays, Kan.

Young Swertfeger, an oil field worker, was caught by heavy machinery which he was operating, investigators said.

Your carrier boy is forming habits now that will be important in later life. Your suggestions on ways he can improve his service will be appreciated.

U.S. Cannot Hike Wheat Export Area

. . . Declares Benson

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Wednesday the United States cannot now widen export markets for wheat without breaking world prices.

This country, he said, is already making its wheat competitive in world markets and as a consequence is getting a big share of the market.

Benson made the statements in a speech delivered at the annual convention of the National Grange. What he said was an apparent reference to Grange proposals that the government adopt a multiple price plan for wheat, cotton and other export crops as a means for broadening markets.

Under this plan, that portion of the export crops consumed in this country would be supported at a relatively high level to hold them on a par with industrial wages and profits.

But production in excess of domestic needs would be allowed to drop to whatever levels were necessary to find markets.

Benson made no specific reference to the Grange proposals but did outline what he called basic factors the administrated used in considering various farm program proposals.

Depositions Readied In CPPD Suit To Void Norris Contract

Lincoln-Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb.—Principals in the Consumers Public Power District vs. City of Beatrice suit to void a power contract between the city and the Norris Rural Public Power District, convened at Beatrice Wednesday with legal counsel to prepare depositions in the case.

R. L. Schacht of Columbus, Consumers general manager, stated that the meeting was held at the Gage County Courthouse as a "convenience to all concerned."

When completed, the depositions will be presented to the Court for acceptance if the court so desires.

"This meeting would normally be held in private at some lawyers office," Schacht said, "but because of the convenience of the courtroom location we are holding it there." Schacht expected the work to be completed Wednesday.

About a dozen persons were present, including Schacht, Pete Steinmeyer, both of Columbus, and attorney Richard D. Wilson of the law firm of Healy, Davies, Wilson and Barlow of Lincoln; Beatrice City Attorney Mrs. Anne Carstens and Warren Johnson of Lincoln, representing the city; George Miller, Beatrice board of public works manager; Lester Trussell, Beatrice, Norris Rural Public Power District manager and Norris attorney Robert Crosby of Lincoln; Bryan Lamb, Hubbell, Norris board member who objects to the Norris contract with Beatrice, and Lamb's attorney W. O. Baldwin of Hebron.

Case Calls Service Rivalry In Missiles Shocking

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) Wednesday night described as "shocking" armed service rivalry in the missiles field. He said it "suggests an alarming tendency to overlook the real competitor."

Case said he is confident the American people will support any presidential action "to bring about real unification and a clearer definition of the role and mission of each service in accord with overall defense doctrine."

"It has become apparent that rivalry between the services, far from speeding our efforts in the missile field, has, in fact, tended to slow down progress," Case said.

The senator, an outspoken Eisenhower Republican, spoke out in an address prepared for delivery before the Adult School of Montclair.

Weakness

Case said recent testimony indicates "a lack of real interchange of information between the various service groups working on missile programs" that reflects "a basic weakness in our defense structure."

He continued:

"Just this morning there were reports, by respected reporters, as shocking to you, I am sure, as to me, that part of the opposition of one service to a proposal by another service for an anti-missile program arises out of its fear that the program will threaten its jurisdiction and diminish its role.

"Anyone who has been around Congress cannot help but be aware of the service battle for budgetary priority. It still comes as something of a shock, to hear the director of the weapons system evaluation group of the Defense Department describe many articles concerning missiles as 'so inaccurate and so optimistic as to be akin to out and out fraud.' He added that the types of articles to which he referred usually have 'all the earmarks of being service-inspired.'"

Case said the American people do not welcome interservice strife "at the level of strategic planning or at the price of costly duplication of effort—costly not just in terms of money but in time and talent lost or wasted."

"We cannot afford to countenance rivalry that weakens rather than strengthens our overall defense position," Case asserted. "Recent events have revealed a bitterness and intensity of interservice rivalry that is deeply troubling."

He added it is time steps were taken to deal effectively "with the whole threat to our security and certainly not as a kind of byproduct of interservice rivalry under an arbitrary budget ceiling."

No 'Take Off'

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (INS)—A Defense Department official predicted that Russia's success in placing two satellites in orbit will not cause Congress to "take off" in appropriating additional funds for similar American efforts.

E. Perkins McGuire, assistant defense secretary for logistics and supply, said that he is confident that Congress "will keep its feet on the ground" with regard to the total defense spending effort when it convenes in January. He added:

"The current fiscal 1958 defense budget has established a spending limit of $38.4-billion and I expect the budget for fiscal 1959, beginning next July 1, to be increased slightly over that figure."

McGuire stated he was more interested in seeing the government develop its ballistic missile program than in trying to race Russia in the development of outer space vehicles. He explained:

"This is a private, personal view, however, and I am not speaking as a representative of the Department of Defense."

Karnopp Gets Formal Notice On Extradition

Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp was formally informed Wednesday that Mrs. Bertha Huddleston and James B. Henry have refused to waive extradition from Arkansas to Nebraska on child-stealing charges.

Mrs. Huddleston and Henry, her son, were freed on $5,000 bond each in Little Rock, Ark., where they were apprehended last week. They are charged by Lancaster County authorities with the taking of Henry's five-year-old daughter from the Lincoln Cedars Home for Children at gunpoint Nov. 12.

Sheriff Tom Gulley of Little Rock informed Karnopp that an extradition hearing for Henry and Mrs. Huddleston has been set for court there Jan. 15, 1958. Earlier reports had said the date was Dec. 15. Karnopp said he was requested to have a representative at the hearing, and would probably attend himself.

Bartunek Files For Legislature

Lincoln attorney Leo Bartunek filed Wednesday as a candidate for the Nebraska Legislature to represent the 19th District.

The incumbent, Stanley Portsche, Lincoln realtor, filed Tuesday for re-election.

Nine Injured

NEW YORK (INS)—Nine persons were injured when an around-Manhattan Island sightseeing boat struck a center bulkhead of a bridge spanning New York's Harlem River. Police said the boat, the Knickerbocker VII, experienced hydraulic steering trouble.

Top Scientist In Russia Earns $50,000 A Year

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—A top scientist in Russia apparently earns a salary equal to $50,000 a year in the United States.

A Russian scientist suggesting an idea worthy of study can get full support from his government.

These statements highlighted an unusual question-and answer exchange between Soviet and American scientists in a radio broadcast, Radio Beat, over a radio network.

Replies Analyzed

Two American scientists and a newsman put questions to the Russians. Their answers were received later through Radio Moscow and then discussed or analyzed by the Americans.

Asked what a topnotch Soviet scientist earns, the reply was that Dr. Anatoli Blagonravov gets 13,000 rubles monthly as a member of the presiding committee of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. He also draws a regular salary at his research institute.

Estimate Made

Harry Schwartz, Russian expert of the New York Times and who was on the American panel, estimated this meant Blagonravov may be earning 20 to 25 thousand rubles a month.

"He must be one of the top one-thousandth of one per cent of Soviet wage earners, and perhaps comparable with the same American who is making $50,000 a year," Schwartz said.

This would greatly top incomes of U.S. scientists except in the highest positions in industry. Famous U.S. scientists at universities earn $10,000 to $20,000 or sometimes more, depending on consulting fees, income from books or other sources.

Physicists and engineers start out at basic pay double the wages earned by the experienced ordinary worker, Schwartz estimated on the basis of the Russians' replies.

12 Times As Much

The Soviet physicist with a Ph.D. degree gets 12 times as much, he added.

The incentives to becoming a top scientist or engineer in the U.S.S.R. are relatively stronger than in the United States, Schwartz said.

Remarking on Blagonravov's income, Dr. Donald Hughes, senior physicist at the Brookhaven National aboratory, Upton, N.Y., said:

"I would say that for a country that is so much against capitalism, there seems to be quite an emphasis on salaries."

Dr. John Turkevitch, Princeton professor of chemistry, and another panel member, said it is "beyond my imagination right now to visualize what one would do with such large amounts of money" as Blagonravov is paid.

He and Schwartz agreed that Blagonravov, from the positions he holds, appears to be "chief engineer" of Soviet science.

Dr. Blagonravov said the U.S.S.R. was indisputably ahead in rocketry right now, but "there are some fields (of science) in which we lag behind the United States."

The American scientists offered to answer questions put by the Soviet scientists next week in the inter-continental panel program.

Britain's Cost Of Living Goes Up A Full Point

LONDON (AP)—The cost of living in Britain went up another full point last month, the government said Wednesday night. The official index showed 107 on Oct. 15. The base figure of 100 is calculated on living costs in effect in January, 1956.

The Labor Ministry said the main factors were increases in rents, postal and telephone charges and prices of newspapers.

Late Rally Lifts Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—A late rally pulled the stock market out of a decline Wednesday and produced its first advance of the week.

A feature of the day was a good rise by rails which have been battered for six sessions in a row.

Elsewhere in the list, gains stretched to as much as 2 or 3 points among key stocks while some specialties did better. The recovery was not unanimous. Some leading issues dropped 2 or 3 points.

For the first two hours or so the market was mixed, with rails about the only steady group. In the afternoon prices softened, putting the list down on balance. Not until the final hour did the improvement come, putting the market ahead in fairly active trading.

The advance was considered largely due to rumors that the Federal Reserve Board Thursday would ease credit further, probably by reducing the reserve requirements of member banks, making more money available.

At the same time, considerable short covering was reported because of the anticipated bullish news; and also because the monthly short interest figures were expected to be higher. They were announced after the close, and the figures were higher, indicating a firmer "cushion" under prices.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.10 to $154.30 with the industrials up $1.30, the rails up $1.90 and the utilities unchanged.

Of 1,168 issues traded, 602 rose and 335 fell. There were 57 new lows for the year and 2 new highs.

Based on the rise in the average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated $1,300,000,000.

Of the 15 most active stocks, 9 rose and 6 fell.

American Stock Exchange prices were irregular on volume of 550,000 shares compared with 610,000 Tuesday.

Brisk Tussle Develops At Blue Watershed Meet

Star Staff Writer

YORK, Neb.—Amid a great deal of talk about co-operation at an organizational meeting Wednesday night of the Big Blue River Watershed Assn. a floor fight developed between proponents of soil conservation districts and backers of a new organization to be appointed under Legislative Bill 373.

After a comprehensive speech on the problem of water and soil conservation by State Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln and another pep talk by former Gov. Robert B. Crosby, Chester Ellis of Holmesville opened the firing by questioning the need for any new group to co-ordinate flood control measures in the Blue watershed.

The Gage County man, who serves as a director in his soil conservation district, said a new organization under LB 373 would result in duplication. He said there would be two agencies scrambling for the same flood control funds and neither would be effective.

Ellis said his district already had laid plans and would soon be constructing dams to control water tributary by tributary.

Give Us A Chance

"Give us a chance. We want to try this thing the way it is set up," he argued.

President of the new Big Blue Watershed Assn., Robert M. James of York, contended that soil conservation districts had not been organized in many counties in the basin.

"Only five of nine counties have submitted names of three directors of soil conservation districts," James countered. "All counties are not organized like Gage," he said, "so we need help."

Under LB 373, as it was explained by Crosby, the governor could appoint a watershed board if 100 or more landowners in a watershed petitioned the governor.

The governor would:

1. Designate the boundaries of the watershed.
2. Appoint one board member from each county in the watershed.
3. Call the first meeting of the board.
4. Designate the terms of the board members not to exceed six years.

The Board's Job

Once set up by the governor the board would, according to Crosby's interpretation of the bill:

1. Elect officers.
2. Study co-ordination of local, state and federal agencies already set up to provide services for soil and water conservation.
3. Co-operate with municipalities, counties and agencies to effect flood control and soil conservation.
4. Accept gifts of money to carry on water and soil conservation.

Lose Local Control

Ellis' contention was that local control would possibly be lost. He questioned whether an appointed board would be as effective as the voluntary workings of directors of State Soil and Water Conservation Committees that already exist.

James expressed confidence in the governor's ability to appoint a board. He disclaimed any intention on the part of the association or the board appointed by the governor to take anything away from government organizations already established.

He urged landowners to sign petitions he had ready to distribute. He also proposed that all persons interested in promoting development of flood control programs in the Big Blue watershed to formally join the Big Blue Watershed Association, memberships $1 each.

50 Ask For Cards

His membership drive got a cool reception when first mentioned but at the close of the meeting an estimated 50 persons queued up for their membership cards.

The tone of the meeting was set by a speech in which Liebers pointed up the need for urgent action to install flood control devices throughout the watershed.

A thorough flood control system would have three beneficial effects, he said. It would save soil, stop losses of water from runoff thus providing water for a multitude of uses, and, thirdly, stop damage to property in the path of water as it races down the watershed.

No Room For Competition

He called for the co-operation of all agencies of the federal, state and local governments. He saw no room for competition, he said.

He characterized the job of the Association as one of education.

Nearly 100 persons were on hand for the discussion.

Counties almost wholly within the Big Blue watershed are York, Gage, Saline, Seward, Butler, Polk, Fillmore, Clay and Hamilton. Partially within the basin are Jefferson, Adams, Hall and Merrick counties.

State senators Fay Wood of Seward, Hans Jensen of Aurora and Harold Stryker of Rising City attended the meeting. Dean W. V. Lambert of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, Wallace Thornton of the Nebraska Reclamation Assn., Ray G. Swam of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Kansas City and Stanley Matzke of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District represented the various agencies which James said would be interested in the development of a watershed program.

Sample NU Students Cited In Controversy

Typical university schedules for students preparing to be high school teachers were outlined in the rebuttal statement issued Wednesday by NU Teachers College faculty in the controversy over the methods of teacher certification.

Pointing out that only 20 semester hours of professional education are required out of a total of 125 semester hours required for a degree, the Teachers College statement cited the records of the following recently graduated students:

GI Scout Selected

Wilson Merritt, 17, of Grand Island, has been selected by the Overland Trails Council to serve as its "Report to the Nation" Explorer Scout, according to Dr. Earl W. Wiltse of Grand Island, chairman of the selection committee. Young Merritt, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merritt of Grand Island, will compete on Nov. 24 with boys from six other councils in the Bangboard Service Area for the right to represent Region 8 in the "Report to the President of the U.S." (Photo Special to The Star)

Egypt's Tie With Soviet Tightened

It Appears To Be A Syrian-Style Pact

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's war minister, Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, winged into Cairo in a shiny Soviet TU104 jet airliner Wednesday with a promise of Russian economic air which may link President Nasser closer to Moscow.

Amer got the Soviet pledge from Premier Nikolai Bulganin during his three-week visit to the Soviet Union.

Egypt already is receiving Soviet military weapons in return for cotton—this nation's chief product.

Details of the economic offer were not disclosed. It is believed they will be similar to those the Soviets made with Syria in what they both called a no-strings-attached economic pact that put Syria in the Klemlin's debt for the next 12 years. It also brought Soviet technicians to Syria.

The Syrian deal was considered by Western circles a wedge through which the Soviets could foster envy and perhaps discontent among other Arab countries.

The Soviets gave Syria a 2.5 per cent interest rate—something the West could not match.

Meanwhile, the United States has deposited $600,000 in an Egyptian rural improvements fund. The deposit, the first U.S. money to go into Egypt since aid was cut during the Suez crisis last year, was seen in Washington as an apparent mark of improving relations with the Nasser regime.

Beck Keeps Command Of Teamsters

SEATTLE (INS) — Dave Beck, shedding his "lame duck" role, declared in Seattle Wednesday he will continue command of the powerful Teamsters Union until legally succeeded as president.

The portly labor boss said he has summoned 40 of the union's handpicked organizers to a session in Seattle's Olympic Hotel Thursday. He said he will inform the organizers he "must" continue as president.

His current term expires Dec. 1.

'Lame Duck'

Previously, Beck had been cast as a "lame duck," waiting for James Hoffa to succeed him as president of the 1,500,000-member union. Hoffa was elected last September at the union's Miami, Fla., convention.

Hoffa's right to the presidency is under legal challenge.

Beck said:

"By precedent of long standing, the president stays in office until a successor is elected and qualified. I tried to be succeeded and that matter has been stopped or deferred. It is something over which I had no control."

Beck explained:

"Until the court approves the last convention decision or renders a decision that will force a new convention, I will hold office."

Touhy Wins Cut In Prison Term; Jailed Since '34

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Roger Touhy, Chicago prohibition era gangster, won a sentence reduction Wednesday that puts freedom from prison within reach in another 21 months.

Gov. William G. Stratton, acting on recommendation of the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board, cut 27 years from Touhy's 99-year term for kidnaping. It makes Touhy eligible for release in August 1959 instead of 1968.

Touhy, 59, has always maintained in his long fight for freedom that the kidnaping charge was a frameup and that he was convicted on perjured testimony. He has been in prison since 1934.

Stratton said Touhy's sentence seemed "extremely harsh and out of proportion" in comparison with those given for premeditated murder.

Kidnaping

Touhy, once known as "The Terrible," originally was sentenced for kidnaping John "Jake The Barber" Factor. Touhy has claimed that Factor faked a kidnaping to escape extradition to England.

In 1934 Touhy received an additional 199-year sentence for taking part in a break from Stateville Prison. That sentence, however, was reduced to three years by Stratton last July.

Under the reduced kidnaping term, Touhy will be eligible to seek parole on that charge in February 1958. If granted a parole at that time, he would be required to serve six months of institutional parole before gaining a final discharge on the kidnaping sentence.

Then he would begin to serve the commuted three-year term on the prison break charge.

Woman, 43, Who Refused Blood, Leaves Hospital

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP — Mrs. Gardner Denno, 43, who refused blood transfusion on religious grounds, walked out of Hale Hospital Wednesday well on the road to recovery from an ulcerated bowel condition.

She had been a patient seven weeks and, maintaining her beliefs as a Jehovah's Witness forbade such treatment, rejected pleas of doctors, her family and clergymen who tried to persuade her to undergo transfusion.

Doctors said her blood count was lower than ever was known here to exist in a living person.

She will return to the hospital weekly for a checkup.

INGRID WANTS WORLD TO JUDGE HER AS AN ACTRESS

. . . And Leave Her Private Life Alone

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Ingrid Bergman said she wished the world would judge has as an actress and leave her private life alone.

"I'm starting a new life," she announced, without a trace of bitterness, "and I do feel that I have some right to privacy."

Gilmore

The interview took place in a small restaurant near the studio where she is making her new movie "Indiscreet" with Cary Grant as co-star.

She had just swallowed her first bite of food when a photographer bobbed up beside her table.

"But you are an actress. One whose private life has hit the headlines in bold type," she was told.

"All Too Well"

"Oh yes," she nodded as the flashbulbs illuminated the strong and beautiful features of her face. "I know that all too well."

The twice-married mother of four children—three by Italian Director Roberto Rossellini and one by her first husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom—spoke about her troubles only in answer to questions.

As to Rossellini, from whom she legally separated on Nov. 7, she politely refused to discuss him.

"People keep telling me that a million housewives would like to change places with me," she said. Then, after a pause, she added: "I wonder."

With a quick little laugh, she pecked at her bacon and eggs.

"I've had troubles. Yes. But, if I had to live my life all over again, I'd still want to be an actress and be this one—Ingrid Bergman."

"But, are you happy?" she was asked.

There was only the slightest hesitation.

"Yes. Yes. I'm happy."

She lifted her eyes.

"There are my children. I miss them terribly, of course."

Then she smiled again.

"But I shall be seeing them at Christmas."

Did she plan to return to America?

"No, I have no plans for that. I don't want to bring my children up there. I want to give them a European education. After all, I'm European."

Navy Chief Home With His Family; Baby Near Death

BOSTON (INS) — Joy reigned Wednesday in the home of Navy Chief Petty Officer William Bock.

The "chief" was home with his 17-month-old daughter, Elizabeth "Widdy" and it was hard to tell from the cheerful expressions displayed by the family that she has only a few months left to live.

"Widdy" is a "blue baby," victim of a heart defect which, doctors say, will claim her life within a year. When her plight became known an emergency leave was arranged for Bock who was on duty on the aircraft carrier Roosevelt in the Mediterranean.

Bock and his wife, Barbara, 23, have three other children, Billy, 4, Cecelia, 2, and Deborah, five months.

AIEE Groups To Hear 3 Speakers

State Farm Bureau Favors 'Gradual Elimination' Of Federal Ag Plans

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation was on record Wednesday as favoring "gradual elimination" of federal farm programs and subsidies and "returning to a free use of the law of supply and demand."

Farm Bureau delegates, representing nearly 18,000 members, wound up their four-day convention in Lincoln with day-long discussion and passage of resolutions.

Noting that farm programs may been necessary during the period of readjustment, the Bureau favored:

1. Continuation temporarily of crop price supports on a flexible basis with the view of elimination by commodity as surplus disappears.

2. No price supports on livestock.

3. Cross compliance and elimination of supports on non-compliance crops.

Soil Bank Not Permanent

4. The soil bank program should be administered as a conservation reserve and would be effective to adjust production, but should not be looked upon as a permanent program.

5. A farm's crop history should be maintained on underplanted allotments.

6. A simple majority vote on referendums lessening controls but a two-thirds majority when more control is involved.

7. More local control of administrative rulings of the farm program.

The Bureau opposed sale of the Omaha alcohol plant, a possible outlet for surplus grain, and called for more research into the economic future of agriculture.

This suggested research program was directed toward expanding markets, lowering production and marketing costs, developing new crops, finding new uses and improving the quality of farm products, and utilization of surplus facilities, where practical, to carry on research programs.

In a resolution from the floor, the Bureau resovled that Agriculture Stabilization-Conservation offices be required to make itemized financial statements of their expenses and receipts available to the public.

On the state level, the Bureau favored retaining the Unicameral on a non-partisan basis and expressed belief that the legislators are not adequately compensated.

Other pronouncements favored legislative approval for the appointment of the State Game Commission, hiring no member of a legislator's immediate family by the state after the senator's election to office, and legislators be required to vote on every bill that comes out of committee.

Complete Record

It was recommended that the State Highway Department be required to publish and make available a complete report showing amount and source of all income and the amount spent for each construction project.

Another resolution called for a change in allocating rural mail route funds to one-half on basis of mail route miles and the other half on a registration-population basis.

Efforts toward better enforcement, fairer equalization of assessments and forcing more property onto the tax rolls were commended by resolution. But the Bureau also favored replacement of the state property tax by a sales and/or income tax with the surplus dividend among local subdivisions and schools.

Voting delegates named to the Farm Bureau's national convention next month in Chicago were Charles Marshall of Elmwood, state president, and Roland Nelson of Mead. Alternates named were Albert Bensen of Blair and M. W. Longnecker of Indianola.

Women delegates named were Mrs. Dale Stubblefield of Sheldon and Mrs. Leslie Elrod of Kimball.

State directors elected were Carl Schou of Chappell for the western district and Ervin Mollhoff of Tilden for the northeast district. They were elected to three-year terms.

Other Farm Bureau resolutions:

1. Took the view that no additional revenue is needed to meet state highway needs for many years to come.

2. Favored present law prohibiting gas tax money use to build interstate bridges.

3. Favored uniform traffic signals and signs between states and more uniform laws of the various states for truck sizes and regulations.

4. Favored strict enforcement of weed control laws and urged railroads to destroy noxious weeds beofre seeding.

5. Favored continued reciprocal trade agreements among nations to promote a high level of trade and repeal of the "cargo preference act."

6. Favored legislation making it permissible to pay estate taxes in installments for a period not to exceed five years after the tax becomes due.

7. Said labor should not be denied the right to organize and bargain collectively, but condemned such practices as anti-trust immunity, secondary boycott, compulsory unionism, unjustified wage demands, labor racketeering and violence, and monopolistic union practices.

8. Opposed unionization of farm labor and a minimum wage law for agriculture.

9. Expressed belief that the small watershed basis is the best approach to soil and water conservation and flood control. Favored maximum participation of local agencies and local government in development of water projects.

Crete-Talmage Line Hearing Postponed

An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing scheduled next month on a Missouri Pacific Railroad request to abandon its Crete-to-Talmage Junction branch line has been postponed. A new date will be set later.

The Crete Branch Line Assn., State Railway Commission and attorneys for the branch line group asked more time to prepare "the people's case," the Commission said.
